

Tripoli's Defenses Broke; End Near For Stalingrad Besiegers

OPA Officials Seize Gasoline Ration Books In Night Test

Four OPA representatives from Harrisburg worked with state motor and borough police officers in Gettysburg, Biglerville and along some rural highways Thursday evening and early this morning checking motorists for suspected violations of the pleasure driving ban.

It was estimated by the local police officers this morning that more than 120 cars were stopped and from 20 to 25 gasoline ration books taken from motorists by the OPA men. The uniformed officers simply stopped the cars. Questioning of the drivers and seizure of the books were handled by the government men.

Local Board Besieged

Confusion reigned in the local draft board offices today as a result of Thursday night's operations. Drivers came in to state their case, demand return of their ration books and to see what steps were necessary to get back their stamp books. The board staffs had no knowledge, however, that the check had not been made and the seized books had not been turned over to the local boards for action.

Two OPA men worked with Borough Officer Lloyd E. Wisler and two with Corporal F. C. Russell of the Gettysburg detail of the state motor police. The OPA men left this morning about 2 o'clock for Harrisburg with the promise "We'll be back." They did not tell the local officers when to expect their next call.

Many Motorists Stopped

OPA agents and the pair of OPA agents spent most of their time at the intersection of Carlisle street and Lincoln avenue where at times as many as 16 or 18 cars were lined up in each direction waiting for their driving missions to be okayed by the federal men, or failing that, to have their ration books taken from them. Later that trio of officers stopped a few cars on Baltimore street and in Center Square.

The pair of investigators working with Corporal Russell stopped some cars at York and Hanover streets, along the Mummasburg road and went as far as Biglerville along that highway.

The checking began about 8:30 p. m. and continued until 2 a. m.

New Ruling On Essential Driving

A new and more rigid ruling on what is essential driving for purposes of visiting ill relatives was received by the local war price and rationing board. The rule follows: "If there is no other adequate means of transportation available, driving to visit sick persons is permitted only under the following circumstances:

- 1) The illness must be critical and the visit must be necessary for its therapeutic value to the ill person.
- 2) In case of deathbed sickness, in which instance only members of the family and close friends may drive to make the call."

MRS. S. J. MYERS SUCCEUMBS AT 84

High School And College Students Among 154 County Registrants Called

BOARD NO. 1 (New Oxford)

Draft Board No. 1 has issued induction notices to 48 men—more than 30 of them between 18 and 20 years of age—with orders to report for final physical examinations and induction on Tuesday, February 2, at Harrisburg. Several married men are included.

No Seniors Called

The draft board office at New Oxford said that no high school seniors are being drafted by Board No. 1. The board recently wrote to all high school principals and secretaries and heads of the parochial schools in the county, suggesting that requests for deferment, signed by the school heads, should accompany the questionnaire of 18- or 19-year-old students in their senior year so that the student can finish his high school education before entering the service.

No such consideration can be given to draft age students below the senior class, a board spokesman said.

New Office Hours

New office hours for the New Oxford headquarters have been announced. The office now is open daily, excepting Sunday, from 8 a. m. until 5 p. m.

The list announced by Board No. 1, exclusive of the volunteers, follows:

AUXILIARY TO HEAR MARKLEY

The annual meeting and tea for the members of the Warner hospital auxiliary will be held Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Nurses' home and Mrs. LeRoy H. Winebrenner, the president, said today that local rationing officials have ruled that the auxiliary meeting is a community project and that members may use their cars to reach the meeting place.

Dr. E. H. Markley, president of the board of directors of the hospital, will be the guest speaker at the meeting and will tell of the development of the Warner hospital and its services during the last 15 years, the period during which he has been a member of the board of directors.

Annual reports of officers and standing committees will be received and the annual election of officers will follow the report of the nominating committee.

All members of the auxiliary and persons interested in the work of the hospital are invited to attend. The tea is being given by the executive committee for the members.

Will Reorganize Observation Post

Lawrence Sheads, Sub-District Civil Director of the Aircraft Warning Service, announced today that there will be a reorganization meeting of the observation post at Abbotstown this evening at eight o'clock.

Mr. Sheads said that the Abbotstown post would be reorganized at tonight's session to assure full coverage of that area at all times. The meeting will be held in the Abbotstown fire engine house.

'FAT AND MILK LEADERS LISTED BY COW TESTER

Miss Teresa Murren has completed the December test for the members of the Adams County Dairy Herd Improvement association showing fourteen herds with a total of 358 cows were on test during the month.

Nine cows in the association produced over 40 pounds of butter fat for the month, and three produced over 40 pounds of butter. There were also nine cows which produced over 1,000 pounds of milk, and nine which produced over 1,200 pounds of milk.

List of Leaders

The list of the 10 high producing cows in butterfat for the month, all of which were milked twice daily, follows: Registered Guernsey of Norman J. King, 1,358 pounds of milk and 65.2 pounds of butterfat; grade Guernsey of W. C. Jester, 1,367 pounds of milk and 57.4 of fat; registered Guernsey of W. C. Jester, 1,175 of milk and 50.5 of fat; registered Guernsey of Norman J. King, 977 of milk and 49.3 of fat; registered Guernsey of Mr. King, 1,017 of milk and 48.8 of fat; registered Holstein of Edgar H. Leer, 1,466 of milk and 48.4 of fat; grade Guernsey of W. C. Jester, 1,221 of milk and 47.6 of fat; registered Ayrshire of Charles B. Spicer, 1,240 of milk and 44.6 of fat; grade Guernsey of Joseph A. Stoner, 1,023 of milk and 44 of fat, and a registered Holstein of Edgar W. Weaver, 1,342 of milk and 43 pounds of fat. (Please Turn to Page 2)

More Than Half Of Bond Quota Is Subscribed

Adams countians purchased $87,330 worth of Series "E" bonds during the first two quarters of January, leaving but $56,670 to be sold during the second half of the month to achieve its goal of $144,000 for the month, Edmund W. Thomas, chairman of the county committee said today.

Sales during the second quarter totaled $39,593. Several days ago sales for the first quarter were reported as $47,737. Total sales during the first half of the month were more than $15,000 above the half-way mark.

Mr. Thomas said today that he had every reason to believe that the county would again "go over the top" during January and exceed its quota.

JURORS INDICT MAN IN $15 CASE FOR LONE TRIAL

The January grand jury completed its duties by noon today, returning only one indictment and ignoring a charge in the second case placed before it this morning. Paul F. Steinberger, Franklin township, was the foreman.

The grand jurors returned a true bill against Percy Markle, Hanover R. 3, on a charge of larceny of a butchering kettle and iron ring worth $15. The charge was brought by Walter Laughman. The case is scheduled to go on trial Monday morning and when it is completed the criminal calendar will be finished.

Milk Case Heard

The grand jury this morning returned "no true bill" against Millard E. Basehoar, Jr., Littlestown, operator of the Crystal Springs dairy there, on a charge of violating the state milk law. The jurors placed the costs of the case on Melvin C. Frankhouse, a state agent, but District Attorney J. Francis Yake said that he will petition the court this afternoon to amend the jury's findings by placing the costs on the county, inasmuch as Frankhouse, as a state officer, brought the prosecution in line of duty.

Basehoar was charged specifically with selling milk to Frankhouse containing less than the required 3 1/2 per cent of butterfat and less than 12 per cent of milk solids.

The case of Boyd Spertzel, Huntington township, also scheduled for trial at this session, has been continued. Spertzel is charged with a serious offense.

Named Divorce Master

Pleas of guilty have been entered in all of the other criminal cases on the January list and the defendants will be called for sentence on Saturday or next week. A hearing was scheduled for this afternoon in a support action brought by the state Department of Public Assistance.

Richard A. Brown, Esq., was named master by the court this morning in the divorce action by Charles Frederick Tawney vs. Fannie M. (Sprenkle) Tawney.

Judge W. C. Sheely and Associate Judge W. Price Oyler were on the bench today. Associate Judge A. Dale Knoke is confined to his home by illness.

ST. JAMES CASTS PREPARE PLAYS

Two one-act plays will be presented in the chapel of St. James Lutheran church next Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock by the St. James Players and Senior department of the Sunday School.

"Buried Treasure," a one-act comedy by Iris Vinton will be given by the following cast: "Cap," Luther Smith; "Skinny," Edgar Moser; "Sunshine," Charles Rodgers, and "Chips," Harvey White. The scene is an old garden late at night.

A folk play, "The Howl of the Wolf," by Elizabeth Hyer Neff, will be presented by a cast including the following: "Granny," Wanda Hartman; "Dave," her son, Raymond Menges; "Valley," Dave's daughter, Rose Zita Gaines; "Helen," the county nurse, Mary Pretz; "Waits," Dave's son, William Cromer, and "Grief," another daughter of Dave, Joyce Martin. The scene is laid in a cabin on Storm King mountain.

The Misses Ruth Scott and Beatrice Pfeiffer are directing the plays. Special entertainment will be furnished between acts. Miss Lena Hartzell will play a flute solo. William Marshall will sing a number and Robert Shryock will render a baritone solo.

The St. James orchestra, under the direction of Howard Gaines, also will play.

A silver offering will be listed.

5 Adult Food Clubs To Meet Next Week

Meetings of five adult food clubs have been announced for next week by Miss Mildred L. Adams, county home economics extension representative. All of the meetings will be held at the homes of members.

The schedule follows: Monday at 1:30 p. m., Barlow club with Mrs. E. P. Shriver; Tuesday at 1:30 p. m., Brushtown club with Mrs. Dennis Straley and at 7:30 p. m., York Springs club with Mrs. Harvey Lerew; Wednesday at 1:30 p. m., Mt. Pleasant club with Mrs. Charles Snider and at 7:30 p. m., New Chester club with Mrs. George Deatrick.

BULLETINS

Washington, Jan. 22 (AP)—A bill calling for upward revision of farm parity price levels, to include the cost of farm labor, was approved unanimously today by the House Agriculture committee, opening in the new Congress a farm bloc drive that the administration successfully opposed last year.

Washington, Jan. 22 (AP)—A lone Japanese plane bombed the American base on the island of Espiritu Santo Thursday, the Navy reported today, in the first enemy air action directed against that new Hebrides operations center.

London, Jan. 22 (AP)—British light Naval forces attacked the harbor of Tripoli Tuesday night and sank an Italian submarine, the Admiralty announced today.

Washington, Jan. 22 (AP)—Fighting French headquarters here announced today that Major R. Sarrai, commander of the French garrison on Martinique, had "escaped" from that Caribbean island and joined the forces of the Fighting French.

HENRY HERSHEY IS LAUDED FOR SELLING STAMPS

The Gettysburg Times, along with the other newspapers in the nation, has a definite goal in the sale of War Stamps in 1943.

Based on the actual results of the sales in 1942, a quota of one stamp per week for each subscriber has been set by the Treasury department.

For the country as a whole, and excluding those newspapers not yet participating, War Stamp sales will total 705,000,000—70 million dollars worth of fighting equipment for the country's armed forces. Expressed in terms of airplanes, this exclusive newspaper effort will put a fleet of 203 planes in the air.

J. Henry Hershey, Gettysburg Times carrier in Cashtown, has been honored by receiving a letter from Howard W. Stodghill, chairman of the newspaper advisory committee of the Treasury's War Savings staff. Mr. Stodghill commended young Hershey for his sales efforts in consistently being high on the list of Gettysburg Times carriers. The Cashtown carrier's picture appeared in the "U. S. Defense Agent News" published this month.

The letter from the chairman follows:

"We are enclosing the eighth edition of U. S. Defense Agent News wherein we have two Treasury honor pages.

"We want to take this opportunity of offering you our sincere congratulations on being selected for your circulation manager to represent your newspaper as top honor award winner.

"The job you boys are doing selling stamps to the homes of America is attracting nationwide recognition.

"Sincere best wishes for your continued success."

The sale of stamps has started at Lincoln school, Walter Truette, Robert Mattingly and Melvin Sease will receive credit for the stamps that are sold there. More than $200 worth of stamps were reported sold on the first day of the campaign last week.

Two Teachers Receive Degrees

Two Gettysburg school teachers received bachelor of science degrees in education this afternoon at Shippensburg State Teachers' college mid-winter commencement exercises.

The recipients of the degrees are Miss Dorothy Brindle, supervisor of music, and Miss Margaret H. Peters, first grade teacher.

Charles Bushey, of Arendtsville, a student at Shippensburg, graduated today. He received the same degree as the two local instructors.

Catawba Graduate
Richard S. Spear, of Gettysburg, was among the nine seniors graduated from Catawba college, Salisbury, North Carolina, this afternoon in special mid-term commencement exercises. Spear has been an active member of the senior class this year, and was a leading musician on the Catawba campus. In addition to playing in the school band and orchestra, he organized and directed his own swing band.

British Storm Gates; Big Guns Batter Libyan City; Nazis Admit Critical Stage

(By The Associated Press)

British shock troops were reported to have swept through the main defense works of Tripoli in the climactic battle of Libya today, while on the Soviet front the German high command indicated that the end was near for Nazi divisions trapped before Stalingrad.

A bulletin from Adolf Hitler's headquarters said Russian troops attacking from the west had broken through the lines of the German "defenders of Stalingrad"—The beleaguered force described by the Russians as the remnants of 22 Nazi divisions.

Siege Armies Down to 50,000

Soviet dispatches have said that the German siege armies originally numbering 220,000 men had been tightly engulfed in the Don-Volga corridor and whittled down to less than 50,000.

Admitting the desperate plight of its troops for the first time, the Nazi command said:

"The German group in the Stalingrad area, which is closely encircled by the enemy and which is offering tenacious resistance to strong enemy pressure, had to wage heavy fighting yesterday against the Soviets, who are storming with far superior forces."

The German war bulletin said that "despite heroic defense," the imperilled Nazis reeled back several kilometers amid bitter hand-to-hand fighting.

Storming Gates of Tripoli

On the North African front, columns of Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's British 8th Army were reported by a British broadcast to be storming at the gates of Tripoli, with their big guns in position to pour destruction into the already bomb-blackened city.

Parts of the Axis citadel were reported aflame and much of the civilian population was being evacuated. The British command asserted that some of the fleeing Axis forces had withdrawn as far as 25 miles inside Tunisia from Libya.

Heavy fighting was also in progress in central Tunisia, suggesting that a showdown battle was developing for the last Axis foothold in North Africa.

Violent Fighting Around City

The British radio said British field guns were now in positions "on a height commanding the city and harbor of Tripoli, whose main defense works have already fallen."

Italian headquarters said violent fighting was erupting around the city.

A Morocco radio broadcast said the British 8th Army had already entered Tripoli's suburbs.

British headquarters said Allied warplanes ranged as far west as Ben Gardane, 25 miles inside Tunisia, to attack Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's tattered forces.

The British intimated that Gen. Rommel may have been attempting to withdraw some of his troops and equipment from Tripoli by sea, reporting that Allied fliers were constantly battering the city's harbor.

Axis Merchant Ship Sunk

During the past 48 hours, it was announced, Allied planes sank another Axis merchant ship and blasted a tanker off the eastern coast of Tunisia, attacked several small enemy vessels between Sicily and Tunisia, and bombed airdromes in Sicily and Pantellaria.

Frontline dispatches said a decisive battle in the great two-way Allied "squeeze" on Axis forces in North Africa appeared near, with strong reinforcements of the British 1st army reported speeding to support the hard-pressed French on the west flank in Tunisia.

Axis Tunisian forces, under the command of Col.-Gen. Jürgen von Arnim, have been fiercely attacking the French for several days in the Pont Du Fahs sector, 30 miles below Tunis, in an apparent attempt to prevent the Allies from driving a wedge through to the sea.

Nazis Move Along Highway

Gen. von Arnim's troops were reported to have driven about 27 miles along the highway southwest of Pont Du Fahs to Souk Roba, thereby throwing a defensive cordon around the coastal route of Marshal Rommel's retreat from Libya into Tunisia.

A French communique broadcast by the Morocco radio said Gen. Henri Honoré Giraud's French troops beat off fresh German attacks southwest of Pont Du Fahs yesterday, but the Nazis scored new gains farther south of the Kairouan sector, 50 miles below Pont Du Fahs.

The communique said the Ger-

ROMMEL'S MEN TUNISIA-BOUND IN A HURRY

By GLENN BARR

Tripoli may not fall today or even tomorrow, but it is apparent that Rommel is fighting now—when he does fight—not for the city but for the few precious days he needs to get the remnants of his Africa corps into Tunisia.

The disaster he is trying to forestall is not the loss of the last colonial capital of Mussolini's twenty century Roman empire, which obviously has no sentimental value for Hitler. What he fears most is an Allied thrust that would prevent a junction between his tattered columns and General Von Arnim's Tunisian forces.

If Rommel carries a day too long in Tripoli that junction may be beyond his reach. As things are it appears that the combined strength of the two Axis armies is just about equal to holding that bomb-pocked corridor around the Gulf of Gabes long enough for Rommel to reach the comparative safety of the Tunisian coast above Sfax. The Allied communiques leave no doubt that he is running for it, for the RAF and American Air Forces are finding their best targets in the westward moving masses of vehicles and men on the road between Tripoli and Ben Gardane, which is well west of the Tunisian border.

Bloody Retreat

This will be a bloody retreat, probably worse than any previous phase of the 1,200-mile flight from El Alamein, that faraway threshold of the Egyptian victory that Rommel could not quite snatch. Now the Allied planes come from both east and west to make the highway one long ribbon of hell, by day and by night, striking from bases in Tunisia and Algeria as well as from those which follow close behind Montgomery's tanks and infantry.

Cairo announces today that the Eighth army's vanguards last night were "engaging the enemy west of Homs and south of Tripoli." This indicates a steady approach to the doomed city in spite of some enemy resistance, probably confined to delaying actions. The communiques leaves little doubt that the bulk of the Africa corps already is on that battered road between Tripoli and Ben Gardane.

Meanwhile Von Arnim is doing his best to hold the way open. That almost certainly is the meaning of the German tank thrust which has progressed 25 miles southwest of Pont Du Fahs against general Giraud's French. The purpose seems to be twofold, to gain high ground from which a broad surrounding area can be dominated and so directly protect the road north of Sfax and also to contain French forces which might be used in a drive to reach the coast farther south.

The chances are that Von Arnim's tactics, supplemented by the speed of Rommel's flight, will succeed. The German generals probably will be able to unite their forces. It is an interesting speculation as to which will command the last African stand of the Axis. Rommel is a field marshal, Von Arnim only a colonel general, but Rommel is marked by a great defeat.

Little Hope of Rescue

In any case the commander should have between 100,000 and 150,000 effective fighting men. General Giraud said two weeks ago that Axis forces in Tunisia numbered 70,000 and they probably have been augmented. Estimates of what Rommel has left range between 40,000 and 70,000 men. Supporting the combined armies will be a powerful concentration of aircraft on Sicily and southern Italy. It will be a formidable force to overcome.

But its mission will not be a comfortable one. It will be something like that of the 22 divisions now perishing on the approaches to Stalingrad, to fight to the end and die without hope of rescue. The Tunisian army probably will not have even the choice between this fate and an African Dunkerque, since the British Navy dominates the central Mediterranean and it is doubtful whether Hitler can achieve even the local air superiority which made Dunkerque possible for the British.

Property Transfers

John W. Englebert sold to Martin and Ellen Harman, all of Hunters-town, a property in that place.

Frank H. Deatrick, Gettysburg, sold to Martin L. and Ella Harman, Straban township, a property in Hunters-town.

C. Elwood and Catherine L. Spangler, Hanover, sold to George H. and Bessie A. Waltman, Mt. Joy township, two properties along the east side of North Washington street.

DIVORCE SUIT FILED

Mrs. Elizabeth C. Knox has filed suit for divorce from PFC Bernard C. Knox, Aberdeen, Maryland, formerly of Gettysburg. The suit was filed Thursday in Dauphin county common pleas court at Harrisburg, and was asked on grounds of indignities. The couple was married January 2, 1934, and separated June 16, 1940.

Monday, February 8, was set as the date for the first district court of honor of the year while subsequent sessions were listed for April and June. Reports were given on the progress of the current financial campaign in the district.

Ray F. Zaner, area executive, and Dwight D. Crisp, field executive, came here from the York office for the session.

APPEAL IS DENIED

Draft Board No. 1 at New Oxford reported Thursday that the area Board of Appeals has continued the classification of Charles H. Henschke, New Oxford R. 2, in 1-A, the classification assigned originally by the local draft board.

MARINES UNLOAD SHIPS

Akron, O., Jan. 22 (AP)—The Beacon Journal says in a copyrighted story that the Navy is investigating reports that alling Marines were forced to unload their own supplies when the crew of a merchant ship lying off beleaguered Guadalcanal refused to work on Sunday because of union regulations. The Beacon Journal's story, published in yesterday's editions, quoted six Guadalcanal veterans as declaring that the Marines had to take over the Sunday work after the crewmen worked two hours on Saturday and then laid off until Monday morning.

Cairo, Jan. 22 (AP)—Medium bombers and fighter bombers of the Ninth United States Air Force have taken part in the Allied air assault on Marshal Rommel's retreating columns in the Tripoli area, an American communique announced today.

More Bicycles

Washington, Jan. 22 (AP)—More bicycles were made available today for rationing in February to easterners whose automobile driving has been curtailed by reductions in the value of gasoline coupons and the ban on pleasure driving.

The Office of Price Administration allotted 86,700 bicycles for rationing next month, compared with 85,000 for January, and increased state reserves from 25,500 in January to 32,900 in February. The state reserves are set up to meet requirements that may develop in excess of quotas.

Most of the increase was assigned to the 17 eastern states where eligibility for bicycle buying has been expanded. Under present regulations any person doing work essential to the war program or public welfare may qualify for a bicycle by showing need for one.

Author Among 35 Plane Crash Victims

New York, Jan. 22 (AP)—Major Eric Knight believed that in this war at least the sword was mightier than the pen.

One of 35 killed in the transport plane crash in Dutch Guiana, Knight, 45, wrote his publishers, Harper and Brothers, only a few days ago.

"The big thing is to win this war by killing Germans, not by writing books. I admire conscientious obdurate in this war so long as they are conscientious. I never admire the ones who fight with their mouths: 'Kill one for me.' Each man with desire for bloodshed should do his own killing."

In the letter he told of his idea for his next book: "It's about a guy coming home from the war. . . I'd like to have it done by the time the war is over, but I don't know."

The author of "This Above All" and "The Flying Yorkshirer" said last May that "this war is too big to make any one man or his life of the slightest importance."

MOST OF MINERS RETURN TO WORK UNDER FDR PLEA

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Jan. 22 (AP)—The last big holdout colliery capitulated today in the three-week wildcat anthracite strike which cost miners more than $2,000,000 in wages, kept 1,000,000 tons off the market and won strikers only the assurance that their wage demands would be considered later.

With production fast approaching normal, the 1,600 United Mine Workers at the No. 7 colliery of the Susquehanna Collieries company agreed to go back to their jobs tomorrow. This left only 800 workers at one colliery idle out of approximately 23,000 who once participated in the walkout, and they arranged a back-to-work vote later today.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Jan. 22 (AP)—Only 2,400 miners still were committed to stay on strike in the anthracite fields today after the nation's costliest walkout in man hours lost since Pearl Harbor, and each of the two local unions still out had scheduled meetings to consider returning.

A United Mine Workers' local representing 1,600 in the Susquehanna Collieries company's No. 7 mine arranged a meeting later today and the Payne Coal company Exeter Colliery local, with 800 members, announced it would meet Sunday.

Thousands ended their part in the three-week wildcat strike yesterday a few hours before a deadline set by President Roosevelt, who had said the stoppage was endangering the war effort.

There was no indication that the President would take, immediately, his promised "necessary steps" to reopen mines whose workers disobeyed his order, and the UMW did not immediately carry out its announced plan of dishonorably expelling any hold-outs.

'FAT AND MILK'

The seven highest herds in butter at production are listed as follows: W. C. Jester, Biglerville R. 1, with an average of 612 pounds of milk and 28.8 pounds of butterfat from a herd of 29 cows; Norman J. Kings, York Springs R. 1, 476 pounds of milk and 23.7 of fat from 22 cows; Joseph A. Stoner, East Berlin R. 2, 523 pounds of milk and 22.4 of fat from 18 cows; P. M. Anderson, York Springs R. 1, 577 pounds of milk and 20 of fat from 12 cows; Edgar W. Weaver, Gettysburg R. 4, 529 pounds of milk and 19.4 of fat from 33 cows; B. J. Griffie, York Springs R. 1, 389 pounds of milk and 16.2 of fat from 10 cows, and H. M. Cater, Gettysburg R. 2, 431 pounds of milk and 15.9 of fat from 27 cows.

With the ever-increasing shortage of protein supplements, dairy men who have good legume hay silage and a quantity of their own home-grown grains, will be able to maintain production on even 12 to 14 per cent grain rations, according to dairy specialists. They suggest liberal feeding of hay as well as grain under present day conditions, even urging the practice of feeding grain three times per day. Ground home grown soybeans, if other protein supplements are not available, together with home raised corn and barley will make a very good dairy ration.

Upper Communities

Jars for the deposit of dimes in the March of Dimes drive have been placed in Thomas Brothers, Reed's and Prowell's stores, and the East End Grocery, Biglerville. Mrs. E. A. Myers and H. Earl Pitzer are in charge of the drive at Biglerville.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Campbell and son, Robert Earl, Norristown, are visiting Mrs. Campbell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Deardorff, Biglerville R. D. Joe Campana, a student at Temple medical college, Philadelphia, is a week-end guest of Cadet Earl Deardorff, who is home on furlough from Jacksonville, Florida. Mr. Campana and Cadet Deardorff were classmates at Susquehanna university.

The regular monthly missionary meeting will be held at Christ Lutheran church, Aspers, Sunday evening at 7:45 o'clock. Dr. H. D. Hoover, Gettysburg, will be the speaker.

Miss Marvel Roth will lead the Christian Endeavor service at the Biglerville United Brethren church Sunday evening at 6:30 o'clock. She will have as her subject, "What Does God Want Us to Do?"

Sergeant Hugh Bringham, who enlisted October 24, 1939, and had not been home since then, arrived Thursday to spend a ten days' furlough with his grandfather, John H. Deatrick, and Mrs. Deatrick, of Biglerville, and with his father, Jay Bringham, and Mrs. Bringham, York Street, Gettysburg.

Sergeant Bringham, a bombardier in the air corps, is now stationed at Davis-Monthan Field, Tucson, Arizona, but during the three years and three months of service has been stationed at various places in South America and the Canal Zone.

The Ladies' Bible class of Bethlehem Lutheran Sunday School, Bendersville, met Wednesday evening with Mrs. Frances Orner.

The Rev. Karl A. Beck, who returned from China several months ago on the Gripsholm where he had been serving as a missionary for the Evangelical Reformed church, will be the guest speaker at the regular Sunday morning service at the Biglerville church at 11 o'clock. He will talk on his work in China.

The Women's Society of Christian Service of the Bendersville Methodist church met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. George Harrison. Mrs. Paul Wright is president of the society.

The official board of the Wenkesville Methodist church will meet Sunday afternoon immediately following the regular church service.

Autos Collide In New Oxford

Damage estimated at about $25 resulted when cars collided early Thursday afternoon at the Peters street intersection with the Lincoln highway in New Oxford. No one was injured, Private W. J. Stanton of the Gettysburg detail of the state motor police reported after his investigation.

Wilbert Deshong, 56, Warfordsburg, was driving west and George W. Lichtenberger, 55, York, was headed east and was attempting a left turn when the collision occurred, officers said.

Since the beginning of the century Wisconsin has dropped from first to fifteenth place as a lumber-producing state.

'Wahoo' Comes Home Again

For the third time the U.S. Flying Fortress nicknamed the "Wahoo" has come back to an American bomber station in England after suffering severe wounds from Nazi fighters. King George VI, pilot of the ship, here is shown talking to King George VI alongside the damaged craft following an earlier exploit.

24 Jap Zeros Tangle With U. S. Bombers; Only 6 Remain After Hour

By VERN HAUGLAND

Somewhere in New Guinea, Jan. 20 (Delayed) (AP)—Two dozen or more Japanese fighter planes were reduced to a mere six undamaged craft after they tangled with American heavy bombers, despite the enemy use of a kind of aerial control tower technique.

A Silver Zero plane hovered a thousand feet above the scene of the air battle directing the other Jap planes, American pilots reported. The Silver Zero never gave up its press-box view to take part in the fight, the Americans said.

The encounter took place over the ocean off New Guinea. After an hour of fighting 12 Zeros had been shot down and six damaged. Some of the American bombers were damaged, but no crew member was injured. The air battle, one of the most intense the war has developed in this area, started with a flank attack by the Zeros. It took place at altitudes ranging from 2,000 to 9,000 feet.

A ship piloted by Lieut. Frank Dowie of Des Moines, Iowa, shot down four Zeros and damaged one to become high scorer for the day. The bomber's wings, bomb bay and nose were badly battered, however, and it came home on three motors.

Lieut. Roy Olsen of Cedar Falls, Iowa, piloted a plane which destroyed three Zeros and damaged one.

Maj. Cecil Faulkner of Bellevue, Texas, said it was one of the most furious air battles fought in this theatre. It lasted approximately an hour with Zeros swooping in on the American Bombers, all B-24 Consolidated Liberators, from every angle.

Staff Sgt. Robert Frantz of St. Clair, Pa., the tail gunner in Lieut. Dowie's ship, bounded out of his plane the moment it rolled to a stop yelling, "Where is that guy Olsen? I want to thank him. The Japs shot out our tail turret and one engine. I was unable to fire at the Zero coming straight for us when Olsen came in and covered the tail. He saved my life, that's all."

In Faulkner's plane Sgt. Peter Abramovich of Barnesboro, Pa., the nose gunner, and Sgt. William Fitzpatrick of Bradwood, Illinois, the tail gunner, each got a Zero.

Among the fliers who claimed victims was Lieut. William Dougherty, Philadelphia, who got one.

Bonneauville

Bonneauville—Private Roy Gehhart, of Rhode Island, recently spent a short furlough with his father, Harry N. Gehhart.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Myers, of Thurmont, visited the Misses Emma and May Myers, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Groft, of York, spent Sunday with the former's mother, Mrs. Mary Groft.

Sergeant John Greiner, of New Cumberland, spent the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Baker.

Richard Groft spent Monday with relatives in York.

Private Paul Myers, of Tennessee, is spending a furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Myers.

Bullets Anticipate Stiffest Struggle With Bombers Saturday At 8:30 P.M.

DRACHA TO BE REPLACED BY HAAS AT GUARD

"Hen" Bream's undefeated Gettysburg college basketball team will face its stiffest assignment of the season Saturday evening when it meets the Aberdeen Proving Grounds quintet on the college floor.

It was announced today the game will start one half hour later than usual due to week-end activities at the college. The tilt will get underway at 8:30 o'clock. No preliminary game will be played.

Victors over the New Cumberland Reception Center team, Lebanon Valley and Navy, the Bullets' streak is in dire danger as the Bombers have been classed by many as one of the strongest service teams in action this year.

Hand Injured

A hand injury received in the Navy game on January 13 will probably keep George Dracha, stellar guard, out of action.

Coach Bream intends to use Gene Haas, ex-Hanover high luminary, at Dracha's post. Haas has been putting up a fine brand of ball this season and his presence in the lineup should not weaken the club in any manner.

The remainder of the Bullet starting lineup will be intact. Vince Parnell and Cal Welliver will team up as forwards. Tony Yovicsin will be at center with Don Freedman holding down the other guard position.

Davey Plank, former Gettysburg high star, and Cy Davis, who starred at William Penn high, Harrisburg, are slated for action Saturday.

Bombers Stars

The Bombers have a record of 15 victories in 17 starts. The soldiers are scheduled to bring a nine-man squad here. Listed for the starting lineup are: Abe Novak, formerly of the Ohrbach proc. forward; Lou Romano, ex-Glenview State Teachers' college ace, forward; Ben Scharnus, Seton Hall and Detroit Clown star, center; Angelo Musi, Temple star and All - America mention, guard, and Moe Becker, ex-Duquesne player, guard.

Rounding out the squad are Irving Tannebaum, Johns Hopkins and All-Maryland selection; James K. Power, former semi-pro in Pittsburgh; John H. Lukaszuk, of St. John's university, and Roscoe Sams, of Eastern Teachers' college.

GAME OFFICIAL EXONERATED BY HIS ASSOCIATES

Harrisburg, Jan. 22 (AP)—Opening of Pennsylvania Game commission records to public inspection disclosed the commission last March dismissed charges involving former member Samuel C. Castner of Williamsport.

As an aftermath of the decision of five commissioners in ordering an investigation of what they called accusations of "irregularities" on the part of "members of the commission" and "employees" the minutes of commission meetings were opened to capitol newspaper correspondents yesterday.

Commission Director Seth Gordon said Castner was accused at a previous investigation of using men connected with the commission to do landscaping at his home, permitting planting of state-grown trees on his property and allowing establishment there of a state propagation area without legal agreement by the commission.

No Fraud Intent

The minutes showed this resolution was adopted last March 25 on the recommendation of a commission investigating committee:

"After a thorough investigation, we feel that the difficulties in which Mr. Castner has become involved and which have been responsible for a great deal of embarrassment to the commission have been caused by poor judgment on the part of Mr. Castner and not with any intent on his part to defraud the commonwealth.

"Under the circumstances, we do not feel that the unfortunate incidents should reflect on Mr. Castner's integrity or affect his continuance on the commission."

Castner resigned last July because of ill health.

The recent resolution of the commission calling for a new inquiry said a review of "files, notes of testimony and other communications, including reports of investigations," revealed "certain discrepancies and irregularities." These investigations, the resolution stated, were "in connection with former Commissioner Castner and the Loyalsock game farm."

Ready for Probe

Castner declared "I have been ready for an investigation since Feb. 1, 1942."

Commission President Ross L. Leffler of Pittsburgh, absent from the recent commission meeting, charged the action was "illegal because a quorum was not present,"

Delone Quintets Here Tonight

Local fans will have their second opportunity of the season to witness the Gettysburg high school cagers in action this evening when Delone Catholic high will be met on the high school floor.

While the Maroons are favorites to win the unpredictable Squires have shown enough form from time to time to cause the Forney-men plenty of trouble.

At 7 o'clock the scrub teams of the schools will clash. It will mark the first game for the Maroon jayvees.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Jan. 22 (AP)—Ohio State university is starting a course in "sports appreciation" . . . preliminary requirement probably is a pocketbook full of the stuff that buys $3.30 tickets for football games and $2 tickets at the horse parks.

Sammy Angott the ex (or is he?) lightweight champion, will train for his comeback in his home town of Washington, Pa., where he recently took on a physical education job at Washington and Jefferson college.

Sammy's duties include giving boxing instruction to 400 soldiers. . . . Jimmy Conzelmann disclosed the secret of his oratorical success to Vern Miller, the former Harvard tackle, the other day. He models his speeches after Bob Benchley's.

CONTEST DEPT.

Branch Rickey says he'd be willing to give a lifetime pass to Ebbets field to anyone who'd come up with an acceptable emblem symbolizing "Dodgers" that could be worn on Brooklyn uniforms and used in the ads . . . what he'd like is something like those cocky red birds the Cardinals use . . . but when he sprang that on the baseball scribes, they told him: "If you ever get one Brooklyn 'bird' you won't want two."

SHORTS AND SHELLS

Race horses may have to learn to go barefoot before long, according to Arthur Cragin, vice president of the International Union of Journeymen. With steel and aluminum frozen, there's only enough material on hand to make plates for about eight months. . . . Old Bobo Newsom turned up at the Dodgers' offices the other day, weighing only 221 pounds, and convinced Boss-Man Rickey that he's still a pitcher and not just trading material. . . . It didn't do the Texas Christian university basketballers a bit of good when they came out for a game in the Texas Aggies' gym wearing ear muffs. They tossed them aside after the first few minutes and lost the game anyway. . . . Tuning up on Willie Pep's 58 consecutive victories in advance of the Pep-Allie Stolz scrap, Tub Thumper Harry Markson remarks: "He kicked 'em all and there were all kinds and all styles—and not even Heinz could think up more than 57 varieties."

TODAY'S GUEST STAR

Henry L. Brophy, Waterbury, Connecticut, American: "Encouraging outlook for organized baseball: Mr. Fan may not ride to the beaches and mountains when the balmy days arrive, but he will be able to get to the ball park to 'ride' the umpires."

SPRING IN THE AIR

Pointing out that the Athletics will have a pretty fair place to train this spring, B. Yetter of Wilmington, Delaware, and Duke university reports that his home town had three championship teams last year—the Pro Football Clippers, Blue Bombers in pro basketball and the Blue Rocks in baseball. . . . sounds like just the place for Connie Mack to start singing the blues. . . . and Mac McGrath of Brooklyn claims that Bear Mountain, famed for its toboggan and ski slides, will be just the place for Them Bums to practice for a bigger slide than they took last season.

SERVICE DEPT.

When Lieut. Hank Greenberg visited the Waco, Texas, Army Flying school recently he got a big hand from his old American league friends Sid Hudson of the Senators, Bruce Campbell, once a Tiger with Hank, Buster Mills of the Indians, and Hoot Evers, who tried out with Detroit last spring. . . . Chief Petty Officer Lou Di Filippo, former Fordham and Giants' footballer, has been assigned to the Bronx again. He'll be at the new school for WAVES at Hunter college. . . . Dick Shackelford and Bruno Hills, who played football at Princeton in 1925, found themselves reunited at an Army station in the southwest Pacific. And both were wearing a major's insignia.

COLORED BROAD JUMP STAR IS IN LAST YEAR

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Jan. 22 (AP)—It took a fight to get Eddie Gordon into track and field competition and it probably will take a war to get him out of it. And the tall, slender negro who came out of Gary, Indiana, to become one of America's best broad-jumpers has no regrets at all for the time he has devoted to practice and competition during the intervening 21 years.

Gordon has been appearing in big-time track meets longer than almost any active athlete, except possibly Joe McCluskey. He won the Olympic broad jump championship in 1932, was a member of the 1928 Olympic team and has piled up an impressive total of national, sectional and collegiate championships. Only last Saturday he was able to tie for second place in the Metropolitan Indoor meet (held indoors) without having had any practice for three months and he believes he still could make 25 feet if he had time for regular practice. His job of piloting a bus around town doesn't allow him many workouts.

Star Is Born

Eddie, a frail youngster, was practically forced to become an athlete. "It was at Proebel high school in Gary," he explained today. "Carl Olsen, now University of Pittsburgh coach, had been after me to come out for track, but I wasn't interested. Then one day I got into a fight with another boy in a school corridor and Olsen gave me my choice between the track team and two hours a day in the gym doing calisthenics. After about 10 minutes I decided I liked track and I've been at it ever since."

"I really don't know why I've kept on so long except that I like competition and I like to win—and I've had a lot of fun. But this probably is my last season. The war has taken the edge off athletics; you get out there for a meet and you think of fellows like Ben Johnson and Dick Ganslen in the Army and others you don't know where they are. My wife and I both are planning on going into the Army. She already would be a WAAC only we didn't want to join up separately."

Sports Essential

Gordon doesn't think much of the idea that athletics aren't essential. They teach so many valuable things, especially how to win, he argues. He learned that as a member of the 1928 Olympic team, which was headed by General Douglas MacArthur.

"We were taking an awful licking," says Eddie. "So one night General MacArthur got the boys together and told them, 'I don't mind losing but I never yet brought a team out that's going to quit. You're Americans and if defeated you're going down fighting.' You really want to fight for a leader like that."

"It was the same way in the 1932 games when the newspaper consensus had me third behind Nambu of Japan and Cator of Haiti. I just liked them then and we'll like them now."

Hampton

Hampton—Pvt. Herman Megonell, of Florida, is spending a furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Megonell, Sr., Groupes Mill.

Miss Betty Jane Markle, who has been ill, is improved.

Private John Kime, New Cumberland, spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Kime.

Private Eugene Kauffman, New Cumberland, spent the week-end at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Kauffman.

A farewell dinner was held Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph V. Hoff, near town, in honor of their son, Clarence, who was recently inducted into the Army and also in honor of Eugene Kauffman, who was inducted into the armed forces. Dinner guests included: Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hoff, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Kauffman and son, Eugene, this place; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hoff and daughter, Barbara, Baltimore; Mrs. Naomi Everhart and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hoff, York Springs; Mr. and Mrs. John Mummet, Spring Grove; Mr. and Mrs. Claude Hoff, Hanover R. D.; Raymond Kern, Spring Grove; Miss Ruth Havestick, New Oxford R. D.; Chester Hoff, New Oxford; Helen Hoff, Hanover, and Anna, Dorothy, Estella, John, Bill and Betty Hoff, near town.

A son was born last week to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hoff, Baltimore, in a Baltimore hospital. Mr. Hoff was formerly of this place.

The local Boy Scout troop met Tuesday evening in the local school with 13 regular Scouts and one visitor present. The meeting was opened with salute to the flag. Scout oath and law were given, dues collected and patrol meeting held.

Good turns were given after which code study took place. The meeting was in charge of the Scoutmaster, D. E. Myers.

LOOKING AROUND

By DON BREEM
Sports Editor

There was a time when the Central Pennsylvania Interscholastic Basketball league was ranked far higher than the Southern Pennsylvania loop but that seems to be a thing of the past. For two straight years Coach George Forney's Gettysburg high dribblers, kingpins of the South Penn circuit, downed William Penn high. Central Penn representatives in the PIAA playoffs and went on to capture the District 3 title.

This year the Maroons whipped William Penn in convincing manner on the York high floor and then repeated in a game played a week later here. York high is undefeated in Central Penn league games to date and is deadlocked with William Penn high of Harrisburg for first place with three wins against four for William Penn. The teams will meet tonight at York in a battle for undisputed possession of first place.

Pvt. Eugene Hartman and Robert Hartman, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hartman, Liberty street, are members of the Army Recruiters and Shippensburg State Teachers' college basketball teams, respectively. Pvt. Hartman looped 13 points Wednesday evening while performing for the Recruiters in an Industrial Basketball league tilt in Harrisburg.

Brother Bob has been seeing service on Coach Eddie Guilan's Shippensburg squad. Charles Bushey, former Arendtsville high star, has been a regular starter for Shippensburg. He graduated from Shippensburg today.

Biglerville and Arendtsville high schools are without games this evening. East Berlin and New Oxford cancelled games to be played on the upper county courts.

Don Freedman, sophomore basketball flash at Gettysburg college, comes by his court prowess naturally. His brother, Ellis, is now a regular with the University of North Carolina quintet, and another brother, Harris, captained Penn State's five in 1941.

Pvt. Percell Ecker, former Littlestown athlete who is now stationed at the Aberdeen Proving Grounds, in a letter to the writer, advises local fans to attend the Gettysburg-Aberdeen basketball game on the college floor Saturday evening at 8:30 o'clock if they want to see a classy outfit in aggregation. Pvt. Ecker reveals that the Bombers have won 15 out of 17 games this year. Last year the team won 27 of 29 games and have the same squad on hand this year, plus several additional stars.

Ecker has been keeping close touch with basketball by refereeing games at the Army post as well as high school games close to the Aberdeen Grounds.

NEED HELP TO RETAIN STATE POTATO YIELD

Philadelphia, Jan. 22 (AP)—A 25 per cent cut in potato acreage in Pennsylvania this spring "unless the farm labor and machinery outlook brightens in the near future" was forecast today by the Pennsylvania agricultural information committee.

The estimate was based on talks with members of the Pennsylvania Cooperative Potato Growers association who represented "a cross-section of the growers in nearly every county," the committee announced.

P. D. Frantz, eastern division manager of the cooperative and the committee's spokesman for the potato industry, said a 25 per cent reduction would bring plantings to about 117,750 acres, compared with 157,000 acres last year.

Blight Last Year

A blight held the state's yield to 17,584,000 bushels last year. Frantz said "with good weather and good luck this year it is conceivable we could grow more potatoes on fewer acres."

Frantz pointed out that potato production is largely dependent upon skilled machine operators, many of whom have left farms for the armed forces or war industries. He added that quotas for new machinery available to farmers have been set far below 1940-41 levels.

"As nearly as they (the growers) can determine," Frantz added, "they just will not be able to handle full production with the limited

KANSAS COACH RAPS NCAA FOR PROFIT SPLIT

By FRANK HOOD

Lawrence, Kas., Jan. 22 (AP)—After more than a quarter century of profound, and frequently explosive, research, Dr. F. C. (Phog) Allen, Kansas cage patriarch, concludes there is just one thing in basketball freer than a free throw—that's playing under the auspices of the National Collegiate Athletic association.

This weighty opinion was disclosed today as the doctor commented on the decision of the N.C.A. to transfer the national court playoffs from Kansas City to Madison Square Garden in New York.

"Personally," confides Phog, whose Kansas team currently is the hottest thing in the Big Six conference on the basis of a 12-game winning streak, "I don't give a hoot where they play this year. As far as I'm concerned, I wouldn't be slightly interested even if my club is unlucky enough to get a bid to take part in the playoffs."

What's Money?

"I see by the papers where the N.C.A.A. big-wigs figure the move will draw more customers, and the competing teams will get more money. All I can say to such benevolence is, what money?"

"Why, they still owe us money from last year's western playoffs at Kansas City when we virtually packed the hall for games with Rice and Colorado. All we ever got was $330 expense money, which, incidentally, still left us $75 in the hole."

Here Phog stemmed his fiscal outpour long enough to admit he didn't know just what the N.C.A.A. allegedly owed the Jayhawks.

Profits Unreported

"To my knowledge, they have never reported the profits. You see, under the present setup the N.C.A.A. gets 55 per cent of the net proceeds to feather their nest, and the other 45 per cent goes to all the competing teams and the coaches association—an 18-way split for each game of the playoffs and finals."

"I don't know how much money they made in 1942, but it was enough for a sizeable dividend. We want our money, even if it was only five dollars. To show you the N.C.A.A.'s generosity, here's the way they would split that fiver. They'd keep $2.75 of it, and give most of the remainder to the teams that furnished the attraction. For playing two games we would get about 25 cents."

Allen cited as financial contrasts a 4-game eastern trip which netted the Jayhawks $2,500 over the Christmas holidays, and pointed to the Big Six guarantee of $400 for a conference game.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Sir:

Would like to take this opportunity to thank you for sending me The Gettysburg Times Service Edition. We boys here in camp are sure glad to hear some of the news from back home, because it makes us feel that we're really not so far away if we can sit down and read an item from our local paper.

The boys here who don't receive your paper will sure be glad to read mine because they feel the same way I do when they know what is going on back in the home town.

supply of men and machines which apparently will be available."

Reports from many "farm patch" operators seem to indicate increased acreages, the spokesmen said, but "commercial producers x x x grow about two-thirds of the potatoes produced."

Aviation Cadets Resent Poor Food

Easton, Pa., Jan. 22 (AP)—President William Mather Lewis of Lafayette college planned an investigation today of Army aviation cadets' complaints that they have received poor food in the campus dining room.

Forty cadets studying at the college forced the door of the dining hall yesterday and pounded on the tables in what college authorities described as a protest demonstration. Later they presented a petition saying they had been served sour milk, stale bread and "raw" ground meat, and that silverware was "not clean."

PEP'S 58 IN ROW BEST IN BOXING GAME

By SID FEDER

New York, Jan. 22 (AP)—Harry Markson is a nice young fellow who has never been accused of tossing his money around with abandon, so when he phoned to tell you he had a pile of $10 notes to give away, you didn't know whether to run over to get some—or call the keepers to get Harry.

"I," he said over the phone, "will give a sawbuck to any and all who bring me the name of a single fighter in ring history with a longer winning streak, as a professional, than Willie Pep's 58 in a row."

Now, Harry is Uncle Mike Jacobs' chief drum-beater, and the fact that Pep, the featherweight champion (New York state version), is tangling with Allie Stolz, the "almost" lightweight champion, in Uncle Mike's January 29 Madison Square Garden show, probably had no more to do with Markson's offer than a gallon of gas has to do with making your car run.

Record Stands Alone

But since a sawbuck can still put meat on the table—if you know where to buy it—and since a rapid mental run-down reminded you of such pretty fair county fairs as Benny Leonard, Harry Greb and never-beaten Jack McAuliffe, you put your record books under your arm and headed for Harry in a hurry. But when you got there the cupboard was bare, because there just isn't a single thumper in the book with a record of straight wins—without draws, no decisions or exhibitions—like the package of Pep from Hartford, Connecticut, has put together in his three years of mashing noses.

This is no niche for a hall-of-fame spot for Willie. As a matter of fact, having seen Willie "jab-and-run" to his half of the 126-pound crown a couple of months back and having watched Jackie Callura maul his way to the National Boxing association half this week, this corner goes on record as favoring a meeting between the two immediately. This would eliminate one of them, at least.

A half-filled War Stamp album is like a half-equipped soldier.

CONSTIPATED? TRY THIS GENTLER WAY

Many medicinal purges work on you—by prodding the intestines into action or drawing water into them from other parts of the body.

But KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN—a crisp, delicious breakfast cereal—works mainly on the contents of your colon. If you have normal intestines and your constipation is due to lack of "bulk" in your diet, you'll find ALL-BRAN a much gentler way to treat it.

Eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN regularly and drink plenty of water—and you'll find wonderful relief. For this way, ALL-BRAN gets at the cause of constipation due to lack of "bulk" and corrects it. ALL-BRAN is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek and sold by your grocer. Try it!

DODGERS WILL SPONSOR CAMPS FOR PROSPECTS

By JUDSON BAILEY

New York, Jan. 22 (AP)—A system for mass production of ball players will be undertaken by the Brooklyn Dodgers this year in spite of the war—and George Sisler, one of baseball's great all-time first basemen, is to be a kingpin in the setup.

Branch Rickey, Dodgers president, explained the plan at a press conference and said Sisler, commissioner of the National Semi-pro Baseball Congress, would become a Brooklyn scout to lead the search for talent among the sandlotters.

The plan calls for conducting camps and baseball schools throughout the country in a manner similar to the program Rickey installed with great success for the St. Louis Cardinals.

Scouts to Stay

"It is absolutely opposed to the process of reducing scouting staffs which most clubs are doing," he elaborated, "although it is understandable why clubs which have confined their scouting to the minor leagues would need fewer scouts now. There will be fewer minor leagues."

"We are going into what might be termed the field of free agency scouting. We hope to find some good prospects among the 16 and 17 year olds."

"We are, in effect, betting that the war is over in two years. If it is, this is a corking good program. If the war lasts three years, then maybe we are throwing away a year of scouting."

Looked at 3,500

"But I believe in mass production of ball players. Why in the past I looked at as many as 3,500 young players in one year."

Rickey said he expected to have nine full-time scouts, with Ted McGrew in charge of watching the minor leagues as he was when

Interstate Loop May Alter Program

Baltimore, Jan. 22 (AP)—The Interstate Baseball league may rearrange its 1943 schedule at its annual meeting in Trenton, New Jersey, Monday because of war-time transportation difficulties, President Arthur H. Ehlers said last night.

Lengthened home stays, fewer road trips and possibly fewer games may result, Ehlers said. The league played 140 games last year.

Members of the circuit are Allentown, Lancaster and Harrisburg in Pennsylvania, Wilmington, Delaware, Trenton and Hagerstown. Ehlers said no definite assurances have been given that major league clubs will take franchises to increase the membership to eight teams.

TO INDUCT EDUCATOR

Erle, Pa., Jan. 22 (AP)—George Herdman, secretary of county draft board No. 1, said Maurice Kolpien, superintendent of Erie county schools, had been classified 1-A and will be inducted in February. Herdman said the county school board originally requested that Kolpien be deferred.

GETS RELIEF POSITION

New Cumberland, Pa., Jan. 22 (AP)—Lt. Col. William A. Fulmer, commander of the New Cumberland Army reception center, today announced Capt. Thomas H. Doby of Gettysburg, post personnel officer, has been designated as the Army emergency relief officer of the post.

Larry MacPhail was president of the Dodgers.

Besides McGrew and Sisler the staff will include Bob Finch and Wid Matthews, who were scouts for the Cardinals under Rickey, Presco Thompson, Tom Greenwald, Tom Downey, Justin Fitzgerald and Dick Fisher.

Sisler, playing first base for St. Louis Browns, was the American league's most valuable player in 1922. He managed the Browns for three years, and in 1939 was elected to baseball's Hall of Fame.

DENTAL X-RAYS

Time was, and not so long ago,
Of teeth I had a double rowTo boast about
Then one sad day my dentist said
With solemn shaking of the head:"This should come out!"
See! and he held my film in air,
"Quite plainly there's infection there!"I like that subtle, flattering way
All dentists X-ray films displayTo folks like me
And point to what is just a blot.
The while we nod our heads at what
We do not see.A bit of condescension meant,
Of course, to be a compliment.I've gravely looked at many shots
Which plainly showed infection spotsOr did, said he,
And thus being flattered I admit
I've always fished a little bitWith: "Yes, I see!"
Pretending wisdom I confess
We both knew I did not possess.Now more and more afraid I am
I soon must quit that bit of shamAs time flies on,
For I'll have reached those simpler days
When there will be no more X-rays
To gaze upon.No more pretending that I see
What never has been plain to me.

Today's Talk

By George Matthew Adams

THE HAPPY THINKING HABIT

We are a mechanism of habits.
Nearly every move we make is inspired by habit. Idle gossip is a habit—and a very bad one at that!

Saying unkind things about people easily becomes a habit. Habits are acquired by the way we think, so that to gain the habit of thinking happy thoughts, and saying them, may become not only easy—but one of the most profitable of all habits.

No one can do his best work when unhappy in his heart, or when thinking unhappy thoughts. Circumstances often bring unhappiness upon us, but we can ward them off by thinking of happier things. We can replace unhappy thinking.

A variety of interests form a sturdy barrier to many an unhappy hour, for any happy interest is a powerful antidote in time of storm or stress.

The child's earliest habits cluster about happiness. It is the most natural thing in the world to be happy. The Creator meant that we should all be happy. It is only when we come in contact with disappointments, sorrow, disillusionments, or betrayals of our trust, that we drink of unhappiness—but we should master these tests as quickly as possible—and take the happy road!

The late Theodore Roosevelt once remarked that he never read books with an unhappy ending. I dislike them, myself, but I never know until the end how the book I am reading may come out, unless I am told in advance. People defend these unhappy endings by saying that "life is like that." Undoubtedly this is true, but I see no reason why the unhappiness of life should be emphasized by carrying it into books. You will recall that Kipling's story of "The Light That Failed" was published in two editions—a happy and unhappy ending. I prefer the happy one.

The happiness habit is very contagious! And when a mind gets this habit, it has its effect upon all the actions of one's life. It makes a better worker, a better friend, and withal a better human being. Then why not get it—and make it the strongest habit formed?

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Courage Changes All."

Business Men To Get Bigger Voice In OPA Regulations

BROWN TO USE ADVISORY UNITS FROM INDUSTRY

Washington, Jan. 22 (AP)—The new Price Administrator, Prentiss M. Brown, intends to give business men a bigger voice in drafting the regulations under which they operate.

Brown is resolved to revive OPA's system of industry advisory committees, on the theory that many complaints of unfairness, discrimination and impracticability of price orders could be eliminated in advance if the industry concerned sat in on the preparation of each regulation.

Brown hopes also, it was reliably reported, to skeletonize OPA's enforcement division as much as possible and place enforcement of price and ration orders in the hands of the United States attorneys over the country whenever possible.

Some Policies Unpopular
Brown was represented as being convinced that some of OPA's unpopularity—to which some Democratic candidates ascribed their defeats in the November elections—has stemmed from the agency's enforcement policies as laid down in Washington. This situation might be corrected, in some measure at least, if enforcement were placed more generally on a local basis and administered by U. S. attorneys conversant with regional conditions and needs.

Consulting with the industry before putting a price ceiling into effect is not original with Brown; the price control act requires that this be done "so far as practicable," and under Leon Henderson, who stepped out as price administrator Monday, OPA called an industry conference in Washington before the issuance of nearly all major price orders.

Keep Industry Functioning
However, little emphasis was placed on keeping the industry groups continuously and actively functioning.

The iron and steel scrap industry committee, an exception, has been persistently active in advising OPA on price trends, assisting in changing trade practices and even in policing the industry. Brown reportedly has this conception in mind for all business panels.

Approximately 200 persons from York, Adams, Franklin, Fulton, Cumberland, Juniata and Mifflin counties attended the meeting, arranged by the Pennsylvania Vegetable Growers' Association and the Pennsylvania Cannery Association.

In former years a state-wide meeting was held in Harrisburg in connection with the State Farm show. This year, due to tire and gas rationing and abandonment of the farm show, area meetings are being held in three tomato-growing districts of the State.

Discussions Held
The program in Hanover opened at 2 o'clock, Wednesday afternoon, with a talk on "Profitable Tomato Production Practices" by Jesse M. Huffington, State College. There followed a discussion of fertilizers, equipment, gasoline, tires, labor and other vital matters with W. A. Free as leader. Answering questions were canners, County Farm Agents M. T. Hartman, of Adams county, and George Weber, York county; Mr. Huffington, and Prof. R. A. Bagshaw, superintendent of the Hanover Public schools. Prof. Bagshaw spoke working on farms.

James E. Walker, State War Board chairman, had been scheduled to address the meeting but was called to New York on business and was unable to be present. Mark Shuman, an assistant to Mr. Walker, spoke on "Tomatoes Needed to Win the War." Allen R. Warehime, president of the Pennsylvania Cannery Association, presided at the meeting, arrangements for which were made by a committee composed of Mr. Warehime as chairman; W. A. Free, York, and Wirt S. Winebrenner, Hanover.

Certificates and awards were presented by H. W. Huffnagle, chairman of the Ten-Ton Tomato club committee, for the Pennsylvania Vegetable Growers' Association, and Mr. Winebrenner, State coordinator for the canning industry, in behalf of the Pennsylvania Cannery Association.

Ten-Ton Tomato club membership certificates were presented to William J. Graft and Mark S. Smith, Hanover R. 4; William B. Leppo, Laymond W. Nace, E. Clinton Sterner and William A. Sterner, Hanover R. 1; Clark D. Warner, Hanover R. 2; Paul J. Enemies Erred
Germany and Japan, both with head starts in production, erred in judging us "by their own time schedules." They missed by a very wide margin in estimating how long it would take us to tool up, get into production, raise and equip an army.

Earlier, at a meeting with leaders of industry, General Campbell said considerable thought was being given to smaller war plants and their expansion.

"I'm terribly keen about smaller war plants. The more people we have doing the same thing the greater our production," he said.

Flashes of Life

WRONG HUNCH

Elkhart, Ind. (AP)—Local ration clerk told today of a "quiet little old lady" who turned in her sugar and coffee ration book a few weeks ago with the explanation: "I'm returning this because I won't be needing it any more." The little old lady returned, however, asking that her book be re-issued to her. She had another explanation. "I thought I was going to die," she said. "But I guess that fortune teller was wrong."

MIGHTY MITE

Charlotte, N. C. (AP)—When Dorothy Josephine Baumgarner saw one of those sizzling high-powered welding outfits, she was captivated. Yesterday she finished a NYA training course and, a full fledged welder now, left to take a job in an airplane parts factory. Dorothy is 18 years old, four feet, four inches in height, and weighs 84 pounds.

FASTER, PLEASE!

Springfield, Mo. (AP)—Mrs. G. E. Campbell read in the paper that Fire Chief W. R. Price said citizens should not throw out frozen pipes with blowtorches. She hurried to the kitchen to tell her husband about it. Flames were already flashing up the wall.

EASY CURE

Denver (AP)—The police ambulance rounded a corner very briskly indeed. So briskly, in fact, that up came the paper clip that 8-year-old Emma Lou Dudmott, the passenger, had swallowed.

GROWERS GET CERTIFICATES

Seventy-two tomato growers, including seven from the Hanover rural routes and eighteen from Adams county, were presented with certificates of membership in the Ten-Ton Tomato club at a meeting of vegetable growers from 7 counties, held Wednesday afternoon in the Y.W.C.A. auditorium, Hanover.

Those thus honored raised at least ten tons of tomatoes per acre last year.

Approximately 200 persons from York, Adams, Franklin, Fulton, Cumberland, Juniata and Mifflin counties attended the meeting, arranged by the Pennsylvania Vegetable Growers' Association and the Pennsylvania Cannery Association.

Enemies Erred
Germany and Japan, both with head starts in production, erred in judging us "by their own time schedules." They missed by a very wide margin in estimating how long it would take us to tool up, get into production, raise and equip an army.

Earlier, at a meeting with leaders of industry, General Campbell said considerable thought was being given to smaller war plants and their expansion.

"I'm terribly keen about smaller war plants. The more people we have doing the same thing the greater our production," he said.

MASEMER'S BREAD
Easy to Slice

SERVE THE BREAD
That's SERVING AMERICA

Now that our Government has decreed there shall be no more bakery-sliced bread for the duration or until further notice—housewives will find Masemer's Bread—

Sonny Boy Lucky Boy Better Crust
 easy to slice due to particular ingredients used and the careful manner in which Masemer's bread is baked. We suggest the use of a sharp knife when slicing bread to insure a smooth, even slice.

ALL OF MASEMER'S BREAD IS ENRICHED IN VITAMIN B-1
 If you're not using Masemer's Bread, now's a good time to give it a trial. You'll like its pleasing flavor and genuine wholesomeness.

Pedestrian Hurt In Mt. Holly Springs

Willis Myers, Gardner R. 2, was seriously injured Thursday when he walked into the side of a moving automobile at upper Mt. Holly Springs. At the Carlisle hospital where he was reported "still serious" Thursday evening, he was found to have suffered possible skull fractures, a laceration of the scalp and concussion. He remained in a semi-conscious condition.

State motor police who investigated the accident, said Myers walked from behind a parked truck into the rear end of a passing automobile operated by James Kuhns, also of Gardner R. 2.

Police absolved Kuhns of responsibility, stating the pedestrian walked into the machine rather than being struck by the vehicle.

The woodchuck is also called a groundhog or American marmot.

"Outstanding" Young Man Of '42 A Private

Chicago, Jan. 22 (AP)—The nation's "outstanding young man of 1942" as designated by the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, is Private Paul C. Smith of the United States Marines—a newspaperman.

Smith, 34, who is on leave of absence as editor in chief and general manager of the San Francisco Chronicle, was selected by a committee of distinguished judges from among 10 "outstanding young men" named by "Future," the Junior Chamber's official magazine.

Late last year Smith, who was a $9,000 a year assistant to Elmer Davis of the Office of War Information, resigned as a lieutenant commander to enlist as a private in the Marines.

15 PRICE PENALTIES
 Philadelphia, Jan. 22 (AP)—Fifteen Philadelphia merchants have paid $50 each to 50 customers during the last three weeks as penalties for violating price ceilings, the Office of Price Administration said today. The law provides that overcharged customers may sue for triple the amount of overcharge or $50, "whichever is larger." In all 15 cases, the OPA said, customers had threatened to file actions.

SHORTAGE OF FARM HELP GIVES BANK A

Chance to Help

● The war is increasing the demand for food. But war also is taking thousands of husky lads away from the farm.

Food doesn't grow by itself. Farmers will have to make up for lost man power by using more fertilizer, adding labor-saving equipment, keeping convenient, business-like records, and by making more frequent use of bank facilities.

There are many ways in which this bank is equipped to serve you. We invite you to call upon us for cooperation.

C. H. BITTINGER PURCHASES INN AT CROSS KEYS FOR $30,000

Charles H. Bittinger, Hanover, R. 3, one of the principal creditors, bought the Cross Keys inn property early Friday afternoon at the trustee's sale which opened on the H. W. Shutz properties at 10 o'clock Friday morning.

The tract of 33 acres on which the inn stands, first of six pieces of real estate to be sold, brought $30,000. The inn was advertised as a "going concern" housing over 60 Air Corps cadets. Immediate possession will be given.

Personal property disposed of at the sale totaled approximately $7,500 and sent the gross amount of the sale receipts above $52,000. Bidding was lively for both the real estate and the personal property. Mr. Bittinger paid upwards of $5,700 for personal property.

Personal Property Sold

Personal property at the Shutz farm was sold first when the sale was opened Friday. After the inn tract was sold, the other pieces of real estate were put on block. The list included a 13-acre unimproved tract fronting on the Lincoln highway and the Carlisle-Hanover highway; a 16-acre tract on which the farm buildings stand; a three-acre tract fronting on both highways, the brick garage building at the inn and less than an acre of land, and 59 acres of farm land along the Hanover-Carlisle highway.

The prices received in the order of the tracts listed above follow:

Tracts No. 2 to 6, inclusive, sold as follows: No. 2 to Stewart P. Mehring, Hanover, for $2,025; No. 3 to the Littlestown National bank, for $3,000; No. 4 to S. P. Mehring, for $610; No. 5 to J. W. Crabbs, Hanover, for $7,000, and No. 6 to Charles Bittinger for $2,650.

The complete contents of the inn also were sold. G. R. Thompson and J. Arthur Boyd were the auctioneers. Mr. Thompson sold the inn property. C. C. Bream was the clerk.

The sale was held by Blaine Bixler, who had operated the inn for the last several months as trustee. He was appointed after H. W. and Miriam Gerth Shutz, owners of the inn and the other properties, were adjudged bankrupts.

Sale Follows Court Order

The sale was held pursuant to an order of the District Court of the United States for the Middle District of Pennsylvania after a last-minute attempt by a group of Shutz's creditors to have the sale plans upset failed last Thursday afternoon at a hearing held in the offices of Referee Walter H. Compton in Harrisburg. Compton ordered the sale held in spite of the letter from the Littlestown National bank and a petition signed by a number of creditors asking that it be postponed at least 90 days.

Mr. Shutz and Mr. Bixler testified at the hearing which was attended by Franklin R. Bigham, Esq., as attorney for the trustee; J. Francis Yake and William Glass, Esqs., as counsel for Mr. Bittinger and certain other creditors; Attorneys Ruch and Zeigler representing the petitioners and Mr. Shutz; Arthur Blair, cashier of the Littlestown National and Richard A. Brown, Esq., as attorney for the bank.

Mr. Bittinger, the purchaser of the inn Friday, almost a year ago had the inn, almost a year ago had an execution issued out of the Adams county court which resulted in the scheduling of a sheriff's sale which was stopped on the sale date by a federal court injunction.

OPA Investigator Checks Cars Here

A special investigator for the OPA was in Gettysburg Saturday afternoon and evening and worked with borough police in checking cars—some that were parked and some in operation—for suspected violations of the ban on non-essential driving.

No information was available Monday on the exact number of cars checked but the Gettysburg rationing board office was in possession Monday of a list of names and numbers of suspected violators of the pleasure driving ban, dating from January 7.

No announcement of the names of the drivers on the list will be made until the investigations are completed, it was announced.

We Want Letters From You!

Readers of The Gettysburg Times are asking . . . in fact they are pleading . . . for more letters from you men and women in service. They are interested in every one of you, whether they know you or not, and they want to read about you and what you are doing.

It is doubtful if anything we publish pleases them more . . . with the exception, of course, . . . of a good dispatch telling how the Reds kicked the stuffing out of the Nazis in Russia, or how Rommel is getting severely spanked in Africa or how our fighting Yanks are blasting the Japs in the Solomons, New Guinea, Guadalcanal.

But they want us to publish more letters from you folks in the service. You give us the dope and we'll fix it up for you for publication in The Gettysburg Times. Write us anything, about your daily routine, your training, your recreation, your friends, things that interest you at or near your camp . . . in fact any information so long as it is suitable for publication. We'll not get you in trouble. We'll protect you on military censorship and military secrets and the like.

Folks write us from all over the country to send them certain copies of The Gettysburg Times that contained this or that letter from someone in service.

We know you are busy. We know that some of you don't care about writing letters and some of you think you can't write a letter. Well, just sit down and jot down whatever you wish and we'll fix it up for you . . . you see, we are vitally interested in you and what you are doing and your friends at home feel the same way.

So, this week, start shooting more letters to us. We'll appreciate it and so will your friends.

Thanks a lot and good luck to everyone of you.

HENRY SCHARF TO HEAD RED CROSS DRIVE

Henry M. Scharf, manager of the Hotel Gettysburg, has accepted the chairmanship of the 1943 Red Cross War Fund campaign for $18,700 from Adams county, it was announced at chapter headquarters in the court house Tuesday morning.

Preparations already are underway locally for the war fund drive which will open March 1. Supplies have been ordered and will be on hand for distribution next month to the corps of canvassers to be organized for the new appeal.

To Attend Conference

Mr. Scharf, Mrs. E. S. Lewars, the chapter chairman; Miss Margaret McMillan, executive Red Cross secretary here, and possibly other local chapter leaders will go to Harrisburg January 27 for an all-day conference on War Fund drive plans with field representatives from the national office of the Red Cross and representatives of other chapters in this section of the state.

The meeting will be held in the Civic club at Harrisburg and will open at 10 a. m. It will continue through the afternoon.

The county chapter of the Red Cross conducted successfully its first War Fund drive for $13,000. The campaign opened in December, 1941, and was completed late last summer. Just before the drive opened in 1941, the chapter had collected more than $5,000 in the annual 1941 Roll Call. The Roll Call was omitted in 1942 to make way for the new War Fund drive this spring.

COUNTIAN JOINS WAACS

The sixth Adams county enlistment in the WAACS was announced today in the current drive for 21 women from this county. The new addition to the list is Miss Ann Elizabeth Roth, McSherrystown. She was accepted Tuesday at Harrisburg.

John C. Stahle Graduates From Military Academy

John C. "Buck" Stahle, son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Stahle, 505 York street, and a graduate of Gettysburg high school, Tuesday was graduated from the United States Military Academy, at West Point, N. Y. Stahle attended Gettysburg college for three years when he received an appointment to the Academy from former Congressman Harry L. Haines.

During his first year at West Point he attained the rank of Cadet Lieutenant. He was interested in sports, participating in football, baseball and basketball and winning numerals and a Major "A" in football; numerals and Major "A" in baseball and a monogram in basketball.

Upon his graduation he is scheduled to be commissioned in the Cavalry branch of the service.

Mrs. Stahle and Miss Anna Dietrich attended the exercises at West Point today.

County Leads In WAAC Recruiting

Adams county is leading all of the Harrisburg district in filling its WAAC recruiting quota, it was announced at Harrisburg Tuesday. This county already has filled 23 per cent of its quota of 21. Dauphin county ranks second with 15 per cent of its quota filled.

Pvt. Mahlon P. Hartzell, Jr., who is in charge of recruiting work here, announced today that the Gettysburg chapter of the DAR has named the following members to its committee which will aid in recruiting women for the Women's Auxiliary Army Corps: Mrs. C. Richard Wolf, Miss Grace Sachs and Mrs. Lawrence E. Oyler.

RATION BOARDS GET NEW TITLES

Adams county's two local War Price and Rationing boards have received notice of another change in their official titles.

The Gettysburg board's designation now is War Price and Rationing Board 261.1, while the board for the other district at New Oxford is now known as War Price and Rationing Board 261.2. Pennsylvania's number is 26 and the following "1" indicates county No. 1, while the figure after the decimal presumably indicates the new district number which is a reversal of the former order in which the two local boards were listed.

The New Oxford board formerly was listed as 1-1 and that at Gettysburg as 1-2. Now Gettysburg's board is designated as in the first district and New Oxford in the second.

Local rationing board staffs agree that it's all very confusing.

CALLED TO DUTY

Miss Geraldine Francis, who was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Army nurses corps, has been ordered to report for duty at the base hospital at St. Petersburg, Florida.

3 STUDENTS TO RECEIVE ARMY COMMISSIONS

Three new officers will join Uncle Sam's Army next Monday and two others, one a Gettysburg young man, will become officers in a few months.

The three officers will receive commissions as second lieutenants in the Army at mid-year commencement exercises at Gettysburg college signifying completion of the prescribed Reserve Officers Training Corps course.

The new officers are: James Weston Dunaway, II, of Bala Cynwyd; Thomas Norman Cannavo, of Merchantville, New Jersey, and James Newton Peck, of Ford City.

William E. Hutchison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Hutchison, West High street, and John B. Vilella, of Walston, Pa., also will complete the ROTC course and graduate from college. However, these young men will not receive their commissions until they complete a course at a service school to which they have been ordered.

The reason for the delay is that Hutchison and Vilella had not completed their summer camp training course. They were unable to do so because the government cancelled summer camps last year because of the war. In lieu of that training they will be sent to a service school and later will receive their commissions.

Twenty-one other members of the ROTC will receive their commissions at commencement exercises in June.

At the present time there are 289 students enrolled in the ROTC at the college—153 are freshmen, 86 are sophomores, 28 are juniors and 22 are seniors. Three others have been transferred to the Medical Administrative Corps.

APPEAL DENIED IN DIVORCE CASE

After being in court for more than three years, the Melligakes divorce case apparently was closed Wednesday by an order of the state Supreme court refusing to grant an allowance for an appeal from a decision of the state Superior court last fall in which a lower court decision refusing the decree was upheld.

The case was opened in 1939 by Nicholas Melligakes, Gettysburg restaurant proprietor, asking a decree in divorce from Mrs. Ruth Melligakes, formerly of Midway. Judge Watson R. Davidson, of Franklin county, presided specially in the action in this court and refused the decree. The case was carried to the Superior court where it was argued early last fall in Philadelphia.

The testimony before the master here filed scores of typed pages and helped make the record in the Melligakes action more voluminous than any other divorce case in the county court in many years.

PEARSON WILL FILED

The will of Hannah M. Pearson, York Springs, has been filed at the court house disposing of an estate estimated to be worth about $3,500 in personal property. Jean E. Pearson and Harry B. Pearson, York Springs, are the executors.

9 NEW COURT CASES LISTED FOR JANUARY

Clerk of the Courts Roy D. Renner announced Monday a list of nine new cases for disposition at the January quarter session of court pointing to a brief term of court. The list of civil actions pending in the Court of Common Pleas for the January term, announced earlier this month by Prothonotary Lee M. Hartman, showed only two cases for trial.

Among the nine cases on the clerk's list, pleas of guilty already have been entered in four actions and sentence already has been passed in two others that were disposed of after a plea of guilty was signed. Only three new cases now are slated for grand jury action.

Several cases on the continued list, which have been held over for various reasons from earlier court sessions, may be slated for trial at the term which opens Monday, January 25. The grand jury will convene on Friday morning of this week.

Grand Jury Cases

The three cases which now are listed for grand jury action follow: Millard E. Basehoar, Jr., of the Crystal Spring dairy, Littlestown, charged with selling milk that was deficient in butterfat and milk solids content; Percy Markle, Hanover R. 3, charged with the larceny of an iron kettle and ring worth $15, and Boyd Spertzel, Huntingdon township, charged with two serious offenses.

These defendants already have signed pleas of guilty: Clyde Koontz, Gettysburg R. 2, drunken driving; Harold Patterson, Gettysburg, turning out lights to avoid identification and driving a car without the consent of the owner, and Robert H. Baker, Fairfield R. 2, drunken driving. Alton Hoffman, Ohio youth, arrested for robbing the National Garage and a Buford avenue service station, pleaded guilty and already has been sentenced.

Civil suits will be tried after the criminal calendar has been completed.

DR. J. COLEMAN HEADS SALVAGE UNITS IN TOWN

Dr. J. Walter Coleman, Gettysburg National park superintendent, was selected as the permanent salvage collection chairman for Gettysburg at a meeting Monday evening of the local salvage committee, held in the YWCA building.

He succeeds Dean W. E. Tilberg, who has been acting chairman of the local committee, and who will continue as a member.

Plans for pushing locally the current campaign for discarded silk and Nylon hosiery and for tin cans were laid. Collection centers will be set up in many parts of town.

Housewives may take or send their old hosiery and tin cans to those centers at any time. Collections at the centers will be made on the last Friday of the month. The new local chairman assigned special jobs in connection with the local drive to various members of the committee.

Mrs. J. P. Dalbey leads the women's committee in Gettysburg. Mrs. Charles Ogden is chairman of the Gettysburg committee.

O. H. Benson, county salvage committee chairman, reported on county-wide plans in the current campaign.

He announced that Burgess Richard S. Cratin of McSherrystown has been selected as the new salvage chairman for that community, succeeding Pius Topper, now serving in the armed forces. Mr. Topper headed a committee of 35 covering the McSherrystown area.

Mr. Benson also announced the establishment of a new salvage district in Berwick township with R. W. Rohrbaugh as chairman to direct a campaign that will reach every farm and home in that area.

The county chairman has asked all district committees to re-organize and set up active programs for the next three months. The Gardner committee also met Monday evening under the leadership of Chairman L. Loman Day. Other communities are planning similar sessions in the near future.

OHIO DRIVER ARRESTED

Donald Bryant, Lima, Ohio, who was driving a school bus to a Philadelphia purchaser without license plates, was arrested here by state motor policemen from the Gettysburg substation and fined $10 and costs by Justice of the Peace John H. Basehoar.

WILL NOTIFY GAS UNIT HOLDERS OF EXPIRATION DATE

Holders of gasoline ration cards for passenger cars will be notified by post card from the local war price and rationing board of the expiration date of their cards. Upon receipt of this official notice owners may then send their car owner's card and ration books to the ration office and new books will be mailed to them.

This procedure will eliminate the custom of gas card holders driving to the board's office, or calling in person for their new cards. This will apply also to those requesting supplemental gasoline.

The board also announced today that form 537 for the renewal of non-highway gas ration cards has been mailed. The expiration date of these coupons is Tuesday midnight, January 21.

WOMAN FALLS DOWN STAIRS AND IS KILLED

A fall down a flight of basement stairs, Wednesday evening, fractured the neck of Miss Carrie M. Yost, 70, Kingsdale, and caused instant death.

Miss Yost, who resided at the home of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. George Stermer, had gone to the cellar stairway to place a kitchen utensil on a shelf there. She apparently made a misstep and fell to the basement floor. When members of the Stermer family reached her, she was dead. The accident occurred about 6:30 o'clock.

Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams county coroner, investigated and said that death had been instantaneous and was due to a broken neck.

Miss Yost was a native of York county and formerly resided in Hanover.

A brother, H. B. Yost, Hanover, and three sisters survive: Mrs. Herbert Darling, Upper Darby; Mrs. William Moul, Philadelphia, and Mrs. Stermer with whom she lived.

Funeral services Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Stermer home with the Rev. Dr. Harry Hursh Beidelman, pastor of St. Matthews' Lutheran church in Hanover, officiating. Interment at Mt. Olivet cemetery in Hanover.

COUNTY STILL SETS PACE FOR 'E' BOND SALES

Adams countians continued to set the pace for the rest of the state in the purchase of series "E" bonds for the month of December when the Federal Reserve District Friday reported to Edmund W. Thomas, county chairman, that Adams had exceeded its December quota by $32,327.

The quota for the last month of 1942 for this county was $96,884 for the series "E" bonds.

Total purchases, reported Friday, amounted to $129,211. During the first quarter of the month $27,543 worth of "E" bonds was purchased; $30,093 during the second quarter; $28,443 during the third quarter and during the fourth quarter Adams countians hit a new high with $43,132.

"It is truly amazing and gratifying to receive such splendid reports," Chairman Thomas said. "It attests to the patriotic spirit of Adams countians who are lending every effort to help win this war at the earliest possible moment. The purchase of war bonds is part of our effort and our good people respond. We safely can challenge any other county of equal size, without a war industry or an army camp, to produce results such as this. I cannot compliment our committee workers and our good people enough. I know that all of us will continue this good work."

For the first time the Federal Reserve District released the purchases by communities for the fourth quarter as follows:

Abbotstown, $956; Arendtsville, $1,275; Aspers, $168; Benderville, $1,125; Biglerville, $4,462; Cashtown, $187; East Berlin, $281; Fairfield, $1,232; Gardners, $1,387; Gettysburg, $9,018; Littlestown, $16,912; McSherrystown, $2,335; New Oxford, $2,718; York Springs, $1,068, and unallocated, $12.

Early railway track was laid directly on the ties; now tie plates are used to prevent sinking.

Martin Becomes 35th Governor; Indoor Ceremony

GOV. EDWARD MARTIN

By L. U. LESLIE

Harrisburg (AP)—Edward Martin, one-time farmer boy, was inaugurated Governor of Pennsylvania Tuesday at a hurriedly-arranged indoor ceremony with an humble prayer on his lips for divine guidance to help him lead the commonwealth through the trying years of war.

The shift of the inaugural scene from an outdoor, white-painted stand erected at the foot of the capitol steps was decided upon two hours before the ceremony because of a continued misty rain, following overnight intermittent showers which had soaked several hundred chairs placed on the inaugural stand.

Takes Oath at 12:08 P. M.

The lean 63-year-old retired soldier, who entered the Army as a buck private 45 years ago and left as a major general, took the oath as the commonwealth's 35th Governor in the Forum of the Education building, largest auditorium at the capitol, with a seating capacity of 1,800.

Pennsylvania's chief justice, George W. Maxey, administered the oath, at 12:08 p. m. Martin placing his hand on the treasured testament his childhood sweetheart, now his wife, gave him in 1898 when he went to the Spanish American war. The testament was opened at the verse:

"Where the spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty."

Missing were the special trains that usually rumble into the capitol city on inauguration day, carrying thousands of marching clubs, each headed by its own band.

Parade Is Banned

In keeping with Martin's request for a ceremony of "utmost simplicity," the inaugural committee dropped the traditional parade and limited the inauguration proper to 30 minutes.

The capitol was ordered closed at 10 a. m. for the day's ceremonies, first of which was the induction of Lieutenant Governor John C. Bell, Jr., at 10:30 a. m. in the Senate chamber.

The Office of Price Administration, enforcing a ban on pleasure driving of automobiles, ruled that cars could be used for the inauguration provided no alternative method of transportation was available. The ruling, however, still required motorists in distant parts of the state to measure the value of their gasoline ration coupons with the need to make the trip to Harrisburg.

With the change of governors, the 79-year-old executive mansion along the Susquehanna river gets new tenants, Governor and Mrs. James moving out and the incoming governor and his family taking over.

Old Mansion

James, like many governors before him, thought the old brownstone house was unsuited for its purpose and early in his administration started plans for a new official residence for his successor. Plans were drawn for a $1,000,000 mansion but the war forced postponement of construction.

A military air was given the inauguration by selection of an Army chaplain, Major Frank D. Scott, to deliver both the invocation and the benediction, and a 19-gun salute to proclaim the new governor immediately after taking the oath. The Valley Forge Military academy band—only band on the official program—was given the assignment of providing music for singing "America" before the oath-taking and "The Star Spangled Banner" at the close.

Retiring Governor James and Mrs. James planned to leave later Tuesday for Wilkes-Barre to visit friends. After a vacation trip they will make their home at Plymouth, where the former governor will practice law.

50 VOLUNTEER TO GIVE BLOOD FOR RED CROSS

Approximately 50 persons registered as volunteer blood donors on Monday, the first day for listing the names of countians who are willing to give a pint of blood in the Red Cross blood plasma program. That total does not include a number of registrations which were taken at Gettysburg college and the Lutheran Theological Seminary here. No report has yet been made on the volume of registrations at those two points.

Radford H. Lippy, chairman of the blood donor service committee of the county chapter of the Red Cross, said that he will begin this week conferences with fire company officials in every county community to arrange for county-wide cooperation in the blood-donor program.

Other registration points will be set up in the county but for the present registrations are being received locally at Lippy's store, Chambersburg street, and at the Red Cross office in the court house.

Need 150 Donors

The first visit of the mobile blood receiving station of the Red Cross will be made in Gettysburg on Friday, January 29. About 150 donors will be needed for that visit and for each successive visit by the unit to be made at intervals of one month. Local Red Cross committees, including canteen and nurses' aide groups, will assist Red Cross doctors and nurses on each trip made here by the blood receiving unit.

Any man or woman of average health between the ages of 21 and 60 years may volunteer. Single persons between 18 and 21 need a signed consent of parent or guardian before they will be accepted. That requirement is not made of married persons between 18 and 21 years.

SHUTZ HOLDINGS BRING $52,000

Personal property disposed of Friday at the trustee's sale of H. W. Shutz properties at Cross Keys totaled approximately $7,500 and sent the gross amount of the sale receipts above $52,000. Bidding was lively for both the real estate and the personal property.

The inn property was turned over to its purchaser, Charles H. Bittinger, Berwick township, at 10 o'clock Saturday, while the other tracts will be transferred after the district court has confirmed the sale. The next procedure is to petition the district court for confirmation of the sale. There is a 10-day period following the filing of the petition for confirmation during which exceptions may be taken.

Distribution of the proceeds of the sale to the creditors appeared today to be distant with the determination of expenses involved and a trustee's accounting yet to be handled.

MILK RETAILERS CITED

Inspector D. E. Callaway of the Maryland State Health department reported he had cited 10 Emmitsburg milk retailers for failure to obtain permits to sell milk. He also said most of them had sold milk from containers other than the sealed variety. The retailers accepted the citations and agreed to get permits.

ARRANGE FARM SURVEY OF '43 CROPS, NEEDS

The need of 2,700 Adams county farmers for credit, labor, machinery, feeds, fertilizers, gasoline or other farm supplies, and his production plans for 1943 will be surveyed by the members of the 12 agricultural district committees before March 1 and the results will be distributed among a half dozen agencies for their guidance and information.

An all-day meeting was held at the court house here on Wednesday when instructions were given the committees by Clarence Kulp, farmer field man for the U. S. Department of Agriculture, who came here from Chester county to join with other farm-connected officials in preparing for the survey. Mr. Kulp praised the county committee for their cooperativeness and "evident ability to handle the survey adequately."

Survey Next Week

Fifty-five persons attended the meeting. The group was made up chiefly of committee members but included County Agent M. T. Hartman, Paul B. Piersol, of the U. S. Employment Service; D. E. Hess, farm forester, in the U.S.D.A. office here; Baker Barnhart, representing a farm credit organization, and Richard C. Lighter, county vocational agriculture adviser.

Each community committee was instructed to hold a meeting of its own in preparation for the county-wide survey which will open next week or as soon as the farm plan work sheets are received here.

On the basis of crop plans of 1943 that are recorded on the survey sheets, it will be determined whether Adams county is measuring up to its crop production goal set by the U.S.D.A. Mr. Kulp told the committees that in general the '43 goals for this area are not greatly in excess of 1942 production but that special emphasis is being placed on soy beans, potatoes, peas, tomatoes, snap beans and sweet corn.

Essential List

Farmers may plant as much field corn as they wish without being penalized under the crop control plan as long as they live up to all other features of their 1943 farm plan, Kulp said.

"Every crop grown in Adams county is on the essential list and some increases are asked on all excepting wheat," Mr. Kulp said.

One section of the survey report will be turned over to the Selective Service boards in the county, another to manpower authorities, another to the agricultural War Board and the other will be used by the agricultural committees in studying county production plans in comparison with government-set 1943 goals.

NAME RIFE AS DRAFT EVADER

Frederick G. Rife, 42-year-old insurance salesman of Conowingo township, was indicted in federal court in Lewisburg, Wednesday, for a violation of the Selective Service act.

Inquiry at the office of Draft Board No. 1 at New Oxford disclosed that Rife has claimed he was a conscientious objector and had been classified in 1-A-O as available for non-combatant service. The classification was not appealed but when Rife was ordered to Harrisburg early in December for his physical examination, he refused to report and was reported to federal authorities as delinquent.

Rife is well known in Adams county having once campaigned as a candidate for director of the poor and later as the county manager for a gubernatorial candidate. His address is Mt. Rock road, Hanover R. D.

Two Adams county men, both identified as "Jehovah's Witnesses," were indicted by a federal grand jury at Lewisburg, Wednesday, for violation of the Selective Service act.

The defendants are Mervin M. Alwine of Abbotstown and Harold Emanuel Cluck of Littlestown. Both refused to obey orders from Draft Board No. 1 at New Oxford to report for duty with a civilian public service camp as "conscientious objectors."

Cluck was arrested earlier this month and Alwine early in December by deputy U. S. marshals who came here with warrants. Both cases now await disposition in federal court.

Edgar K. Markley Given Commission

Edgar K. Markley, Esq., member of the law firm of Keith, Bigham and Markley who has been serving as a staff sergeant in the U. S. Army with the provost marshal's division, has been commissioned a first lieutenant and has been transferred to the advocate general's division.

Early in February he expects to be sent from Washington, D. C., where he has been on duty since his recall into the service last year, to Ann Arbor, Michigan, where he will take a 10-week course in military law.

Injured Cadet Returns Home; Week's Leave

Cadet Earl R. Deardorff, who has been a patient at the United States Naval hospital at Jacksonville, Florida, for the last seven months, has been given a week's leave of absence to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin O. Deardorff, Biglerville. He was expected home Thursday.

Cadet Deardorff is recovering from critical injuries he received in an airplane crash on June 29 and is now able to walk without the aid of crutches.

A medical corps member from the hospital is accompanying him home and will make the return trip to Jacksonville with him where the county man expects to remain a patient for some time.

CARRIER BOYS SET RECORD IN SALE OF STAMPS

At the end of the 56th week of the campaign, The Gettysburg Times newsboys Defense Agents have set a record in the selling of United States War Stamps.

They sold 258,926 ten-cent stamps in two weeks for the largest total in that period of time since the campaign has opened. This is the equivalent of 129,463 stamps a week and tops the 124,440 stamps recorded for National Newspaper Boy Week.

During the 56 weeks, the carriers have sold 1,584,570 stamps.

C. Arthur Brame, Jr., boosted his total for the last two weeks to 150,811 stamps to lead the carriers. His grand total for first place in the 56 weeks is now 303,477 stamps. Second place in the two-week tabulation goes to Miss Patricia Meyer, the Biglerville agent, with a total of 75,900 stamps. J. Henry Hershey of Cashtown, is in third place. He sold 13,575 stamps.

Second place in the entire campaign goes to young Hershey for a grand total of 174,174 stamps sold. Luther Smith, of Gettysburg, is in third place. He has sold 168,612 stamps.

Worley Is Named To 6 Committees

Francis Worley, Adams county's representative in the General Assembly at Harrisburg, has been appointed to membership on six House committees.

He is a member of the committees on constitutional amendments, elections, judiciary special, liquor control, mines and mining and municipal corporations. The House has 41 standing committees.

46 GRADUATED FROM MOUNT AT MID-YEAR FETE

Forty-six members of the senior class at Mount St. Mary's college, Emmitsburg, graduated, Sunday afternoon, at the first mid-winter commencement ever held at the historic institution. The Most Rev. John M. McNamara, auxiliary bishop of the arch-diocese of Baltimore and Washington, presided.

Albert S. Schmidt, '18, addressed the 135th graduating class at the ceremonies in Flynn hall. A serious note prevailed throughout the commencement, as many of the seniors will enter the armed forces soon. Many of them are already in uniform.

The valedictorian of the class, Philip A. McDonnell, addressed the assembly on "The Catholic Press and Wartime Obligations." McDonnell, a resident of Dunmore, Pa., is the former editor-in-chief of the "Echo," school paper, vice president of the senior class and was active in the promotion of many of the social activities of his class, and participated in the Watterson oratorical contest.

John E. Connor delivered the salutatorian's address on the topic "There Is a World Tomorrow." Connor is the retiring president of the Forensic council and was secretary of the Monsignor Tierney Honor society.

The 135th Exi Week marked the Golden Jubilee of the class of 1893 and the celebration of the 25th anniversary of the class of 1918. Thomas B. Schmidt, president of the Alumni association, invited the four surviving members of the class of 1893: Frank J. Baldwin, Baltimore; Anthony F. Dorley, Kirkwood, Missouri; Thomas F. Grasselli, Cleveland, Ohio, and the Rev. William McConnell, New Monmouth, New Jersey.

The members of these classes were honored during the Mount St. Mary's ceremony at the alumni banquet Saturday night. The honor classes of 1903, 1913, 1923 and 1933 also received special invitation to be present. Following the alumni banquet, the Montani Sine Morte was inaugurated at which time the class of 1943 was officially accepted into the Alumni association.

The Exi Week officially opened Friday evening with the annual senior ball Saturday afternoon, the presidents of the alumni chapters held their meeting. The Student Theatre group presented "Arsenic and Old Lace" in the Music hall, followed by the tea dance in Flynn hall.

Many alumni who were unable to attend because of transportation difficulties, sent their congratulations to the class of 1943 and to the members of the Alumni association assembled for Exi Week.

The members of the senior class who are members of the Monsignor Tierney Honor society are: John D. Armstrong, John E. Connor, Philip D. George, John A. Haag, Thomas B. Leebzer, R. Wilson Murray, William J. O'Connell, John J. Preisinger, Thomas B. Schmidt, Jr., James D. Stump, William H. Weltzel, Roger I. Zurgable, and Mrs. Thomas J. Croghan, Kenneth H. Martini, Joseph A. Rusin and Walter H. Shaul, all of the seminary.

ASK RELEASE OF MINISTER

At a special congregational meeting after the Sunday morning service, members of the Gettysburg Presbyterian church voted to join with their pastor, the Rev. Seth C. Morrow, in asking Carlisle Presbytery to dissolve his pastoral relationship with this church so that he may accept the unanimous call extended by the First Presbyterian church of Pottsville.

Herbert G. Hamme, an elder, and Dr. C. H. Heldt, as a representative of the church at large, were elected to report the congregation's action at a special meeting of the Presbytery to be held at Carlisle on Thursday.

This committee was elected to represent the congregation in taking the necessary steps toward securing a new pastor: Judge W. C. Sheely, Mrs. J. P. Dalbey, Mrs. Walter H. Danforth, Herbert G. Hamme, William L. Beidler, Edmund W. Thomas and Dr. W. S. Mountain.

Hugh C. McIlhenny was elected to fill the vacancy on the church session caused by the death of his father, Hugh M. McIlhenny. The resignation of the Rev. Mr. Morrow will become effective on February 1. The quarterly Communion service will be held Sunday, January 31.

New Scarlet Fever Cases Reported

Two new cases of scarlet fever have been quarantined in Adams county by the state health officer, William I. Shields.

Ira McClain, 13, Fairfield R. 1, Liberty township, has been quarantined at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis McClain. He is a pupil in the Lower Tract school.

Mrs. Mary McCreaf, 21, New Oxford R. 2, also was quarantined. Her husband is Gray McCreaf. They live in Straban township.

Brother Of Local Resident Is Prisoner Of Japanese

Serg. Ernest A. Stotler, 24, who enlisted in the United States Army in 1939 and saw action on Corregidor, has been reported by the War department as a prisoner of the Japanese.

Mrs. Norma Adams, 34 South Washington street, sister of Sergeant Stotler, was notified of her brother's capture through a telegram from the War department on Sunday. The message said a letter would follow later.

Ernest H. Stotler, father of Sergeant Stotler, is residing with his daughter, Mrs. Adams. He formerly lived at Blackwood Terrace, New Jersey. He came here about three weeks ago.

Sunday's announcement from Washington was the first word Mrs. Adams had about her brother since April 28, 1942. At that time she received a telegram from him in which he said "everything is all right."

Later, after the fall of the Philippines, the War department notified Mrs. Adams that her brother was "missing in action." Subsequent efforts by Mrs. Adams to locate her brother through the aid of the Red Cross also disclosed only that he was "missing."

Sergeant Stotler enlisted in the coast artillery in 1939. Early in 1940 he was sent to the Philippines, where he was stationed at the outbreak of the war. He resided near Winchester, Virginia at the time of his enlistment.

Mrs. Adams moved to Gettysburg from Winchester about six months ago.

CHURCH BURNS MORTGAGE AT ANNUAL MEET

One hundred and sixty-five persons attended the annual congregational dinner and business meeting at Christ Lutheran church Wednesday evening which was featured by the burning of the mortgage on the church indebtedness which was incurred in the remodeling of the church 12 years ago.

The dinner was served by the Women's Service Guild of the church. The Rev. Dwight P. Putman, pastor, gave his yearly report and other reports were given by treasurers and heads of the various church auxiliaries.

A Harrison Barr, building fund treasurer, reported the church indebtedness had been liquidated during the last year and this was followed by the burning of the mortgage.

The following were elected to the church council for two years: Lester Johnson, Paul Kinsey, Kermit Herter, Dr. Robert Fortenbaugh, Dr. George Miller and Dr. Thomas L. Cline.

Miss Jane Quintanilla, daughter of Dr. Luis Quintanilla, Mexican minister to Russia, and of Mrs. Ruth Stallsmith Quintanilla, formerly of Gettysburg, will be included among the 12 students to whom diplomas will be granted at Gettysburg college's first mid-year commencement exercises which will be held on the campus Monday morning.

The class is the first to graduate under the new accelerated course initiated last summer to permit students to cover the regular four-year course in three calendar years.

The exercises which will be held in Brua chapel at 11 o'clock will be preceded by the usual academic procession. There will be special music by the college choir and Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, college president, will present the diplomas.

The name of the commencement speaker has not been announced.

Other members of the graduating class are: H. K. Bowman, Harrisburg; T. N. Cannavo, Moorestown, New Jersey; J. W. Dunaway, Bala, Pa.; D. K. Holtzman, Pennsylvania; Pa. Robert A. Houtz, Harrisburg; J. N. Peck, Ford City, Pa.; H. Schwanecker, Collingswood, N. J.; E. K. Spies, Everett, Pa.; R. L. Stehley, Altoona; Marilyn Wolfersperger, Somerset, and Shirley Wood, Philadelphia.

A year ago there were 830 active cases and now there are 700, Col. J. L. Barton, the executive director, in the county office, told the board members listing cuts in the number of cases receiving every type of assistance. The reductions have been due largely to the employment and improved incomes of legally liable relatives who now are able to assist their needy kin, it was explained.

The number of persons receiving old age assistance dropped from 506 to 459 in the year; blind pensions from 90 to 77; aid to dependent children from 121 to 81 cases, and general assistance from 113 to 73 cases. No persons who are listed as "employable" are now receiving relief in Adams county, the report showed.

While the case load for the year showed a marked drop, there was a net seasonal increase of four cases during the month of December.

Two new members of the county board's staff have begun their duties—Miss Mary Elizabeth Rasmussen as a junior visitor and Mrs. Merion Bushman, a member of the clerical staff.

John Preitz, a field representative from the state office of the D.P.A., met with the board. Members present included: Mrs. Mary K. McClean, Mrs. Maude Saby, B. E. Benner and Joseph H. Weaver.

ARMY PROMOTION
Howard L. Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Miller, R. 4, and now stationed at Goodfield Field, Army Air Corps basic flying school at San Angelo, Texas, recently was promoted from the rank of private to the rank of corporal. He is attached to the 56th Base Headquarters and Air Base Squadron.

COMMISSIONERS SLASH TAX RATE 1 MILL FOR '43

The Adams county commissioners at their weekly meeting Wednesday reduced the county tax rate from 7½ to 6½ mills for 1943 and tentatively adopted the 1943 budget on that basis. Final adoption of the budget for the year will take place next month.

The commissioners said that the tax cut was made possible by a cut in operating costs in the county government and by the success of the campaigns to collect outstanding taxes and to have unlisted taxable property placed on the assessors' rolls.

The new rate represents a 2½-mill cut in the last 10 years and places Adams county among the lowest counties of the state in point of tax millage, the announcement from the commissioners' office stated.

The commissioners took occasion to review their 3-year accomplishments both in the way of financial improvement of the county's condition and improvements to county buildings, furnishings and equipment.

$10,000 Tax Liens

It was pointed out that during the last three years, the commissioners collected approximately $10,000 from tax liens while the campaign for the collection of outstanding taxes has resulted in the reduction of the total of delinquent taxes from a point near the $100,000 mark to less than $50,000, their lowest point in many years.

There has been an increase of about $300,000 in the assessed valuation of taxable property in the county during the last three years, due in part to new construction and also to the policy of placing unassessed property on a taxable basis.

In the same three-year period, the general fund of the county has shown a net increase of about $14,000 while the institutional district fund has jumped about $18,000.

$20,000 Bridge Work

The increase in the institution district fund was achieved in spite of the fact that the administration building and the ladies' department at the county home were thoroughly renovated and new heating facilities were installed.

A new sewer system was installed at the county home by which the sewage is conveyed by gravity flow into the Gettysburg borough system, replacing the more costly pumping system formerly used and always a constant source of trouble and expense.

In the last three years the commissioners spent about $20,000 in the construction of new bridges and rebuilding of old spans. The court house was repainted and its tower and roof were repaired. A new records vault was completed in the basement and the court room and law library were refurbished.

During last year the commissioners conducted an assessors' school to advance the policy of equalizing assessments throughout the county and to help place all tax payments on a current basis.

Last year the commissioners launched a drive to collect personal property taxes which netted $3,600 in the first six months and an additional $1,700 after the first of this year.

Commissioners George P. Taylor, J. Arthur Boyd and Edgar C. McDannell attended the meeting with their chief clerk, Clarence C. Smith.

Discharge Man Who Fractured His Back

Andrew Kane, Biglerville R. D., who had been a patient at the Warne hospital since September 23, 1942, when he suffered a fractured back in a fall from a tree, was discharged from the hospital today.

Mrs. Roy Garner, Taneytown; Paul Baldwin, Gettysburg R. D., and Mrs. Luther J. Angell, Taneytown, have also been discharged. Those admitted as patients were Mrs. Edward Harman, Jr., Biglerville; Michael J. Claybaugh, Gettysburg R. 5; Mrs. John Kump, Fairfield R. 1; Mrs. Hugh McDermitt, York Springs R. D.; Mrs. Robert Bates, Essex, Maryland; Blair Orner, Gardners R. D., and Miss Gladys Blizzard, Gettysburg R. D.

Must Have Draft Cards

All men between the ages of 18 and 38, who have been subject to Selective Service registration for as long as six months and who do not have their classification cards were advised Tuesday by Colonel B. F. Evans, acting Director of Selective Service, to communicate with their local boards at once. On and after February 1, Colonel Evans pointed out, any man in this age group who does not have in his personal possession his classification card (form 57) as well as his Certificate of Registration is liable to fine or imprisonment, or both. Registrants in the 45-65 year old group are not affected by the order.

5,915 Pounds Of Fats Each Month County's Quota

Adams county has been requested to collect 5,915 pounds of household fats a month as its quota under the War Production board goals announced for the state of Pennsylvania.

Announcement of the quota was made Friday by Oscar H. Benson, of Guernsey, chairman of the county salvage organization. He was notified of the quota by Colley S. Baker, executive secretary of the salvage committee of Pennsylvania.

In his announcement, Mr. Baker said that "every home in every county should be canvassed by members of salvage committees to see that every housewife is saving waste fats."

MAILMEN APPLY 32 P.C. OF WAGES TO WAR BONDS

Seventy-seven postal employees in 22 Adams county postoffices used an average of 32.3 per cent of their pay to purchase War Bonds and Stamps, according to figures announced today by Charles A. Williams, Gettysburg postmaster and chairman of the bond and stamp sales among postmasters and postal employees in this county.

Only three postal employees in the county did not participate in bond and stamp purchases last month. The Idaho office led all the rest in percentage of payroll devoted to bond and stamp purchases with a record of 66 per cent. In the local post office, which has the largest staff of any in the county, the staff spent 32.6 per cent of its pay for bonds and stamps.

The records of the other offices on the list follow: Abbotstown, 10 per cent; Arendtsville, 40; Aspers, 10; Bensenville, 10; Biglerville, six; Cashtown, 22; East Berlin, 47; Fairfield, 20; Gardners, 7; Greenstone, 20; Guernsey, 12; Hampton, 15; Idaho, 66; Littlestown, 14.8; McSherrystown, 15; New Oxford, 15; Orrtanna, 10; Peach Glen, 10; Seven Stars, 10; Table Rock, 20; and York Springs, 15.

M. E. KNOUSE TO RECEIVE STATE HONORS

M. E. Knouse, Arendtsville, head of the Knouse Corporation at Peach Glen, will be honored by the West Virginia State Horticultural society as the man who "made the greatest contribution to the fruit industry in 1942—and therefore the greatest contribution to the fruit industry in West Virginia."

The honor will be conferred at a dinner of the state society to be held in connection with its annual meeting in Martinsburg on February 10. During the dinner Mr. Knouse also will be presented with a life membership in the West Virginia society.

Active in Industry

An Associated Press dispatch from Martinsburg announces Mr. Knouse's selection in line with the society's annual custom of honoring the industry's leading figure each year. Last year C. C. Hess, New York city commission buyer, received the honor.

Besides being a fruit grower, farmer and fruit processor, Mr. Knouse has served the fruit industry as chairman of the Apple Products division of the National Canners' association which he also served as a director.

Mr. Knouse's official connections with the national growers took him to Washington frequently during the last year for conferences between representatives of the government, the canners and the growers on war problems affecting the fruit industry. At those sessions Mr. Knouse had wide contacts with all divisions of the fruit industry in the eastern states.

On the day following the dinner at Martinsburg, Mr. Knouse is listed as a speaker at the state society's annual meeting. He was a speaker at the West Virginia society's annual session last year.

Announcement of Mr. Knouse's selection for the honor by the executives of the West Virginia society was made by Carroll R. Miller, its secretary. Mr. Miller is known also in this county as secretary of Appalachian Apples, Inc.

CHAMBER MEETS NEXT TUESDAY

The last monthly membership meeting of the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce for the incumbent administration will be held next Tuesday evening at the Battlefield Hotel. Members will be guests at a dinner beginning at 6:30 o'clock. Members may bring additional guests at one dollar per person.

Annual reports will be presented and the committee in charge announces an entertainment program.

COUNTY SCHOOL DIRECTORS TO MEET JAN. 29TH

"School Activities in War Time" is the theme for the fifty-second annual convention of the Adams county School Directors' association to be held Friday morning and afternoon January 29, in the Littlestown high school auditorium. A program of instruction, entertainment and business for the convention was announced Wednesday by J. Floyd Slaybaugh, county superintendent of schools.

C. William Duncan, former Gettysburg newspaperman now serving with the Federal Security Administration at Washington, D. C.; Judge W. C. Sheely; R. M. Baugher, New Oxford, president of the county board of school directors; Dr. H. C. Fetterolf, chief of agricultural education in the state department of public instruction at Harrisburg, and Dr. Raymond W. Robinson, chief of consolidation and transportation in the state department, will address the convention.

Band Concert

The day's program opens at 9:30 o'clock with a half-hour concert by the Littlestown high school band under the direction of Paul A. Harner. The first session will convene formally at 10 o'clock with President Baugher presiding. Luther M. Lady, Butler township, will direct group singing and devotionals will be led by the Rev. Charles M. Coffelt, Highland township school director.

After the annual address of the president of the county school board, Doctor Fetterolf will address the convention on the subject "Our Agricultural Schools in the War Effort." There will be special music by a Littlestown high school quartet, and then Doctor Robinson will speak on "School Transportation in War Times." A 15-minute question box period will follow.

During the morning there are meetings scheduled of the resolutions and nominating committees to prepare the reports to be presented in the afternoon.

A special dinner program will be held in the social rooms of St. John's Lutheran church from 12:30 to 1:45 o'clock with Superintendent Slaybaugh serving as the toastmaster. Dinner music will be led by Mr. Lady. Guests will be presented and there will be an after-dinner talk by Judge Sheely.

The afternoon session of the convention is set for 2 o'clock with President Baugher presiding. Nominating and resolutions committees will submit their reports and the treasurer's report will be given. Mr. Duncan's address on "Today's Headlines and Headliners" will be followed by an hour of entertainment by the Brandt Concert company of Philadelphia. Adjournment is scheduled for 4 o'clock.

The general convention program was approved and the members of the resolutions and nominating committees were selected by the members of the county school board.

Superintendent Slaybaugh on Tuesday addressed a letter to all school directors in the county announcing the program and urging them to attend. In connection with travel problems in reaching the convention town, Mr. Slaybaugh said the following:

"In compliance with the requirements of the War and Rationing Boards in Adams county we would suggest that you fill your automobile tanks with gasoline for the trip to and from the convention a week or ten days before January 29th, so that if a freeze of the selling of gasoline should be put on, you would be able to come to the convention, which is your official duty as a school director. Furthermore, in keeping with the Office of Price Administration, we suggest that school boards should group together and come to the convention in one car wherever it is possible."

Predict Many Baseball Players Will Be Late In Reporting This Spring Holdouts In Baseball Expected To Disappear; Will Accept Pay Slashes

PREDICT CURB ON DRIVING TO HURT SLIGHTLY

By DILLON GRAHAM
New York—It looks as though we're not going to have to fret over the baseball holdouts this winter. In other years, along about this time, after salary contracts had been sent out, you could generally count on finding at least one story on your sports page about a baseball player who'd be turned if he'd play for the chicken-feed offered him.

Yes sir, Joe Bloke would quit baseball first. He was doing pretty well tending the counter in his pa-in-law's hardware store back home and he'd just kept right on a-doing that unless the cold-hearted club owner paid him what he was worth. That is, what he said he was worth.

Such statement from the name players would bring counter remarks from the club owners. And then, sometimes for weeks on end, they'd be swapping mild insults in the public prints. But history has shown that the players generally had their tongues in their cheeks and their fingers crossed when they popped off. You'd have to shoot most of them to keep them off the field come opening day.

Fans Fed Up
There was the Joe DiMaggio-Ed Barrow sports page duel of a couple of years ago. Joe may not have won his argument but he did get his salary boosted to around $40,000. And then when the season opened, and for sometime thereafter, the fans showed they were a trifle fed up with it all by giving him the boo.

It's pretty hard to work up a good cry over an underpaid gent drawing half as much as the President of the U.S.A. for playing ball three hours a day. We aren't talking sides. We're just remarking that the holdout is likely to be as extinct this winter as the dodo bird, whatever that was.

Players who are asked to sign without a raise, or even to take a salary cut, probably will accept quickly. They know the public isn't going to have much sympathy for a player who finds fault with the salary he is offered to play baseball.

Train at Home
While baseball clubs are going to establish their spring camp in the north this year, some players may be permitted to do their training alone in their own backyards. Fellows who live in the warmer sections probably will be asked to spend a part of the training season conditioning themselves under sunny skies.

Some holdouts of past years did their training at home until salary arrangements were adjusted and when they reported at camp it was evident they were just as far along toward top shape as the others. Quite a few players have purposely held out in past years so that they wouldn't have to go to training camp. They preferred to take themselves along without the direction of a manager. Lefty Grove was one of a number of players who, at the spring camps, were allowed to condition themselves as they saw fit.

NEW TRAINING CAMPS MAY BE AID TO STARS

BY DILLON GRAHAM
New York—Some of our baseball players are going to be exposed to higher learning this spring. At one time this would have been cause for fretting, but no longer. Most of them have already caught education, to a more or less degree. Besides, they're just "passing through" these colleges. The Boston Red Sox are booked at Tufts College, the Phils at Swarthmore, and the Yankees at Asbury Park, N. J., high school. Cincinnati and Indianapolis are considering Indiana University and Brooklyn hopes to use the Yale case.

Such a happenstance isn't as serious now as it would have been in the days of Cap Anson or John McGraw. In fact, it couldn't have happened then. The universities would have balked, but quick. For in its early days, baseball was a rowdy sport played largely by rowdies. Players were not permitted in the better hotels and respectable citizens probably lost caste if they were seen gabbing with performers. Colleges were definitely out of bounds for ball players.

Chloroform, an early method of color printing from woodcuts, means "clear-obsure."

Injured Bullet

The Gettysburg college basketball hopes suffered a severe jolt when Coach "Hen" Bream revealed today that George Dracha, stellar backcourt man will likely see little or no action in the important Aberdeen Proving Grounds game as a result of an injury sustained in the encounter with Navy last week. Dracha, a junior from Reading, has been one of the mainstays of the Battlefield lineup.

BOMBERS WILL BE CLASSY FOE FOR BULLET 5

A star-studded lineup containing several of the greatest collegiate basketball stars of the last several years will take the floor for the Aberdeen Proving Grounds "Bombers" here Saturday evening to oppose the Gettysburg college courtmen. The game will get underway at 8 o'clock.

Hailed as one of the strongest service teams in competition this season, the Bombers have won 11 victories in 15 starts and number among their victims such teams as LaSalle, University of Pennsylvania, Delaware, Swarthmore and Washington college. Early in the season the soldiers lost a one-point decision after two extra periods to the Wilmington Bombers, champions of the American Professional basketball league. Wilmington's charter has since been transferred to Camden. Last November Aberdeen participated in the service team's tournament at Madison Square Garden and lost out 40-38 in the finals to the powerful Gruman A. C. aggregation.

The starting lineup for the Bombers is expected to include Louis Romano and Abe Novak, forwards; Ben Scharnus, center, and Angelo Musi and Morris Becker, guards. Corporal Romano is a graduate of Glenville State Teachers' college in 1941 and that same year was selected by Chuck Taylor, sports writer, on his "Little All-America."

PFC Novak played with the Ohrbach quintet of the New York Industrial league in the New York Invitational tournament in 1941. Novak played with the New York Jewels last year.

Corporal Scharnus graduated from Seton Hall in 1942, where he received several All-America mentions. He formerly played with the Detroit Clowns.

Perhaps the best known player to local fans is Private Musi who graduated from Temple last year after starring at forward for three seasons. He was All-Pennsylvania forward for two years and received honorable mention on Pic's All-America.

Rounding out the starting lineup will be Corporal Moe Becker. Becker graduated from Duquesne in 1941 after three years as a regular. He received the high honor of being invited to play with the College All-Stars against the Oshkosh Professional team in Chicago in 1941. Becker received All-America honors in 1939 and was voted the outstanding player to appear in Madison Square Garden that year.

Others members of the squad who are scheduled to come here are: Corporal Irving Tannebaum, selected all-Maryland forward at Johns Hopkins in 1942; Sergeant James K. Power, a former semi-pro star in Pittsburgh; PFC John H. Lukaszuk, ex-St. John's university luminary and a member of the McCadden Lyceum semi-pro outfit of Brooklyn; and Private Roscoe Sams, of Eastern Teachers' college. It is not certain if Marty Pasaglia, All-Coast star for two years while attending Santa Clara, will accompany the squad here.

Lt. Herbert Covington, former Davidson college coach, is piloting the team. The squad is managed by Sergeant John F. Gallery.

G. H. S. Downs Trojans For 4th Straight

SCORING SPREE IN LAST HALF NETS 33-17 WIN

After being held on almost even terms in the first half, the undefeated Gettysburg high school basketball team went on a scoring spree in the second half to gain its fourth straight victory Friday evening at Chambersburg by a 33-17 margin.

The victory was the second straight South Penn league decision for the defending champions and kept them in a deadlock with Hanover high for the southern division honors.

Once again the Maroons proved their efficiency from the foul line by bagging nine of 13 throws. Last week the team made good on 10 of 11 tries.

Lead Throughout

Coach Forney's lads led throughout although their margin was narrow in the first half. A goal by Fair and foul tosses by Sherman, Boehner and Sachs gave Gettysburg a 5-3 advantage in the first quarter, the Trojans scoring on a goal and foul by G. Leisher who took the scoring honors for the evening with 11 tallies.

Continued close guarding kept the scoring low in the second period which found the Maroons leading 11-8. During that period March and Sherman netted double-digits with Fair and Sherman connecting from the 15-foot mark. Leisher added three points for Chambersburg while Schellhase netted a twin-point.

It was a much improved Maroon team that took the floor for the third period and the outcome was quickly sealed. Fair looped a pair of field goals and Sachs and March each tallied one. Sachs netted two free throws and Fair and Boehner made one each. The only points for Chambersburg came on a goal by McDonald. At the end of the third period the Maroons led 23-10. Gettysburg increased its lead in the final period on goals by Fair, Boehner, Fissel, Sachs and March. Leisher looped a trio of goals and Schellhase a foul for the Schlehter-men.

PEACE TERMS

Oh, when at last the peace is made
Of war will men be still afraid?
Will those of strength completely spent
Still wait and work for armament
And subject still to hates and fears
Prepare to fight in twenty years?

Must all the crimes which was enacted
Re-seed themselves in written pacts
And must the terms which men contrive
Still keep the ancient hates alive.
And must the peace that's made remain
Only till men can fight again?

Or is it now well understood
The people long for brotherhood?
The common people ask no more
Than promised in the freedom's four,
Security in work and play,
Old age, and as they choose, to pray.

Who thinks in terms of "yours" and "mine"
And "have" and "seek" and "border line"
And ships and guns and armored might
Instead of freedom, truth and right,
Though for a time the cannons cease,
Will never make a lasting peace.

THE PASSAGE OF TIME

The month of January goes,
Brief February waits to follow.
'Tis winter and the drifted snows
Lie deep in every nook and hollow.

The young think springtime far away
The old are wise and know much better.
"Twirl swifter come," they sadly say,
"Than will some long awaited letter."

April upon the heels of March
Treads next to green the earth
And bring to leaf the elm and larch
And set the tulip buds to flowering.

"So long the time till school is out;"
Wail children, whether dull or clever,
But graybeards know beyond a doubt
The months fly faster by than ever.

Now though 'tis January still
And wildly blizzards blow upon us
We know it won't be long until Another Christmas season's on us.

SACRIFICE

Now off they go with life in hand,
With all the years that make its span
And give them to their native land
For God and for their fellow man.

In one brave hour for right are spent
The books they'd pen, the fame they'd gain
Or what they might with time invent
Or what with skill they might attain.

Oh, who can count the final price
The brave for freedom gladly pay
Or measure what they sacrifice
Who dare to give their lives away?

'Tis not within man's power to trace
What might have brightened their careers
Had they, like us, at slower pace
From day to day lived out the years.

But this we know, the young, the bold
Who dare to die at freedom's call
Bring everything the years may hold
And in one moment spend it all.

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. William Woodward,
23 West Middle street, announce the birth of a daughter at the Warner hospital last Friday evening.

Flashes Of Life

NOT IN THE GROOVE

Des Moines, Ia. (AP)—Municipal Judge Don Allen declined to add the term "rug-cutting" in his judicial lexicon.

The judge was asked to rule "rug-cutting" illegal after City Dance Hall Supervisor Sam Miller testified that a defendant arrested at a local night club "kicked his heels so high he endangered the physical welfare of other dancers."

Allen said no legally adequate definition of "rug-cutting" exists, found the defendant guilty of disturbing the peace, then suspended sentence.

LONG LONG TRAIL

Fall River, Mass. (AP)—A movie fan got in line to buy a ticket. But when he got near the head of the line he found that it led into a grocery store, one that had butter. He got a half pound.

CAREER MAN

Los Angeles (AP)—G. C. Sperry got $50 after his evidence convicted a grocer of violating OPA price ceilings.

"Well, well," mused Mr. Sperry. . . .

Yesterday he testified in three more cases "and I have about 100 others coming up."

"I decided to become the Jesse James of the markets. I'm doing all right for myself and I figure it's a real service to buyers."

NO THANKS

Denver, Colo. (AP)—Sale of horse meat for human consumption would be made illegal under a bill introduced by State Senator Curtis P. Ritchie of Pueblo.

His battle cry: "Out here we don't eat 'em, we ride 'em!"

LIMITED LEGISLATURE

Topeka, Kas. (AP)—Tom Potter is the new no-man of the Kansas state Senate. He's been sergeant-at-arms 30 years but he's never said no so often.

Most common pleas he now refusing: Rubber bands, please? Paper clips, please? Carbon paper, please? Erasers, please?

WORSHIP WAITS

Kansas City, Kas. (AP)—Mrs. Sawyer, your house is on fire! A woman yelled into the door of the New Hope Negro Baptist church.

The whole congregation ran to help the fire department.

Saved: One sewing machine, one chair.

REV. BLACK'S BUSY

Coquille, Ore. (AP)—The Rev. Charles M. Brown is the Methodist pastor, although the Rev. G. A. Gray substitutes occasionally.

The Episcopalians have arch-deacon H. R. White filling in until February 1 when their new rector arrives.

He's the Rev. Robert L. Green.

25-YEAR INTERMISSION

Kansas City (AP)—Henry Meade has been a lawyer 32 years—he'll plead his first case since 1917, next week.

Retiring recently as probate judge, he's re-entering private practice.

Before his 18 years as judge, he was county auditor.

PANTING PURSUIT

Kansas City. (AP)—A. P. Sullivan noted with interest that a pair of his own trousers adorned a youth walking nearby.

The boy eluded Sullivan's grasp. Sullivan flagged a motorist and rode the running board for a several-block chase.

Captured, the youth told police he stole the trousers a week ago.

Chicago (AP)—Larry Bell, manager of the Medinah club building, was noticeably upset when he was told that a truck was in the club's 13th floor Moscoe pool and Athletic Director Walter Schleuter wasn't doing anything about it.

Bell investigated and there really was—Ford Truck, one of 750 aviation cadets participating in the club's swimming program.

BROTHER'S KEEPER

New Cumberland, Pa. (AP)—Private Max Fenstermacher of Catawissa, Pa., was assigned to ambulance duty at the Army reception center here and ordered to a barracks to pick up his first patient.

He lost no time in getting the sick soldier, suffering a minor illness, to the infirmary.

It was Private Harry Fenstermacher—his brother.

A STORY TO TELL

Chicago (AP)—There's a patient at Mt. Sinai hospital who'll have to wait a few years or longer to tell about his operation.

The patient—the unnamed son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Magnus—was only three days old when he underwent a successful appendectomy. Dr. Stephen Mannheimer, hospital director, disclosed.

Dr. Mannheimer said such an operation on a three day old infant was a medical rarity.

SWIMMING TRUCK

New York (AP)—The Board of Education has announced it will start adult education classes in a new subject entitled "How to Heat Your Home During the Fuel Shortage."

CHEMIST SAYS RESEARCH WILL SLASH IMPORTS

The great strides being made in research chemistry under the pressure of war emergency were indicated by L. F. Livingston, manager of the DuPont company's agricultural extension division, in an address Monday evening in the Hotel Gettysburg at a dinner meeting of the members and guests of the three local service clubs from other county towns.

Mr. Livingston spoke of the contributions scientific research is making to the war effort by finding substitutes for critical materials and by discovering new and more economical ways of handling many substitutes of greatest importance to war industry. He also hinted at the great changes the scientific research of the war period will have on civilian life in the years that follow the war.

Judge W. C. Sheely presided at the meeting. The invocation was given by Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, president of Gettysburg college and a member of the local Rotary club, after which the assembly sang one stanza of "America" with Miss Mary Ramer of the Soroptimist club at the piano. Ninety-seven persons attended the dinner including local Lions, Rotarians, and Soroptimists, representatives of the York Springs and Upper Adams county Lions clubs and guests that included Gettysburg college chemistry instructors, county leaders in agriculture and representatives of a number of business and industrial firms in Adams county and Hanover.

Mr. Livingston gave special attention throughout his talk to new uses being found by chemical research for the products of agriculture. He predicted future independence for the industries of this nation from relying on imports of certain materials because of the progress of research. He said that in the last several years the number of critical materials that must be imported has been cut from more than 40 to 14 and predicted complete elimination of that list.

Since the war began synthetic camphor has been developed because the Japs hold the world's only natural supply. Other such emergencies have resulted in intensified effort in research laboratories bringing out substitute products that often are superior to the materials they replace.

Commercial Uses
"Research chemistry is only in its infancy," Mr. Livingston declared. "Already 30,000 products of cellulose have been made but many of them must be adapted to practical uses and methods must be found to produce them cheaply and efficiently on a commercial basis."

Many objects and materials made from Nylon, rayon, lucite and other materials made from agricultural products were displayed. He pointed to cellulose, derived from farm produce, wood and cotton, as a material that is replacing metals and rubber in new types of cellophane-lined and cellophane-laminated containers. He told of the discovery of a base made from the oil of the castor bean, a farm product, to replace imported pyrethrum used in household and cattle sprays.

The meeting closed with the singing of "God Bless America" after which the audience inspected the display of synthetic products shown by Mr. Livingston.

Mr. Livingston spoke Monday afternoon at Gettysburg high school and the Lutheran theological seminary and at Gettysburg college this morning.

Grant Right To Lay New Pipe Line

Twenty-one rights of way from property owners in northeastern Adams county in favor of the Defense Plant Corporation have been filed at the office of Recorder Winfield G. Horner at the court house giving permission for the laying of the new oil pipe line across their lands.

The rights of way generally cover the section from Heidlersburg to the eastern edge of the county while title searches are being made at the court house on properties along the remainder of the pipe line route to the western edge of the county near Graeffenburg inn. Rights of way were secured on the eastern leg of the route across the county. Construction is proceeding westward from the Susquehanna on this leg of the line from Texas oil fields to refineries in New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

HERE AND THERE

When the next U. S. hospital ship leaves North Africa, bound for the States, one of the patients aboard will be Miss Alice M. Ford, a Second Lieutenant in the Army Nurses' Corps, a "war casualty" . . . with a ruptured incision . . . headed home for an operation and then "back into things." Miss Ford was formerly supervisor of nurses at the Annie M. Warner hospital.

In a letter addressed to the Nurses' Aides of Adams county (Miss Ford trained the first group here) through Mrs. Henry M. Scharf, chairman of the Red Cross Committee in charge of this work, Miss Ford revealed her hospitalization in North Africa following her injury while jumping off an Army truck.

Her letter, dated December 27, 1942, follows:

Dear Nurses' Aides:

I haven't for one minute forgotten you, and your fine work. I have been so busy traveling around the world I have only done the necessary correspondence.

War is interesting, exciting and horrible. I have been fortunate enough to see it from the angles I wished to. The countries I have been in have intrigued me. One never knows what will happen next. You can see by the country I am in, why.

I am afraid I am letting everyone at home down as the next hospital ship that comes back I shall be on as a "casualty." I ruptured my incision jumping off Army trucks and leading the difficult life here. It is no picnic for the nurses. My own group are working in overalls in mud almost knee deep. Baths are almost impossible. Life is at its worst and we have many sick and wounded in this area.

I am a patient in a hospital for officers and nurses. Very comfortable but anxious to get home and my operation done so I can get back into things.

When I get back to the States would you write me? I should like to know how the work is going on.

Lieutenant Robert H. Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emory C. Williams, Hanover street, and graduate of Gettysburg college, recently broke into the news in Panama City, Canal Zone, where he is now on duty.

Chandler Diehl, Associated Press correspondent, recently wrote the following, a part of a detailed story on Army activities in the south:

"Another day, Sunday, deep in Panama's interior, we were at an advanced maneuvers command post with Lieut. Robert H. Williams, of Gettysburg, Pa., an infantry instructor, while potent artillery shells whizzed overhead and churned up a wooded clearing 600 yards ahead of our point.

"As suddenly as it began, the fire ceased and infantrymen who had been in protective foxholes charged forward firing their rifles and machine guns—live ammunition—getting the feel of battle-smoke and battle-noise.

"And ahead when the men reached the woods, there was mute evidence of the heavy hand of artillery. Trees were stripped of branches and foliage. Splinters, shell fragmentation and craters made a hellish scene—everywhere about. Smoke from the scorched and burning brushland billowed up and hid much of the horizon."

Two men of interest to Gettysburgians are included among the Republican contingent in the new Congress.

They are J. Glenn Beall, of Frostburg and Cumberland, Md., Gettysburg college, class of 1916, who defeated Colonel E. Brook Lee, of Silver Spring, in an upset and P. W. "Red" Griffiths, of Marietta, Ohio. Griffiths, line star at Penn State, 22 years ago, was football line coach at the college from 1932 to 1935 inclusive. He was also formerly head coach at Dickinson and line coach at Penn State and Bucknell.

Griffiths, former mayor of Marietta, is an automobile dealer there. He recently caught a cat fish in front of his store during the Ohio river flood.

Colonel John T. Harris, who directed the Federal Commission activities here during the 75th anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg in 1938, is the Commanding Officer at the New Cumberland Quartermaster Depot, New Cumberland, Pa. Colonel Harris is well known in Gettysburg. Prior to the Gettysburg observance Colonel Harris was in charge of transportation arrangements for the Gold Star Mothers' pilgrimages to the battlefields in France. Captain, now Colonel McReynolds, formerly at Gettysburg college, also was affiliated with the pilgrimages.

More public criticism has been leveled at the Office of Price Administration than perhaps any other government agency created by the New Deal. Few, if any citizens, fail to come under the supervision of this agency which accounts, perhaps, for the mounting abuse heaped upon it.

It isn't exactly fair or sportsmanlike to take a left-handed punch at the local ration board just because you don't agree with its findings or some trifling whim hasn't been satisfied.

This agency was created as a war-time measure. It was set up to help promote the war effort, safeguard essential articles that otherwise might be wasted or become so difficult to secure as to cause a hardship on the armed forces and the civilian population. It was designed to equally distribute food staples, gasoline, oil, tires, cars, bicycles, sugar, coffee, type, writers and other items. If the agency fails in its duties some one will be without sugar and gasoline and oil and coffee, etc., while others, more fortunate, will have an overabundance. That wouldn't be exactly fair, would it? And you wouldn't want to be the one without some of these items.

The Adams county boards were set up, like all others in the country, on an unbiased, unprejudiced basis. The boards receive daily instructions as to procedure and policy. They do not set the policy, determine how much gas or sugar you shall be rationed. . . . all that comes from the Washington office. Each county board follows instructions from above . . . Washington.

The county chairman, and the board members serve without pay. Each board is entitled to a few paid clerks, depending upon the size of the area it serves. The Gettysburg board employs five paid clerks. The New Oxford board employs four paid clerks. All others, the chairmen for both boards, Donald P. McPherson, Esq., board members and some fifty odd volunteer workers at each board, serve without pay.

In accepting the chairmanship of the county board, Mr. McPherson had to sacrifice a goodly portion of his law practice. His duties involved long hours. He had to listen to hundreds upon hundreds of appeals and complaints over which he had no control and for which he had no authority to amend or appease. His duties were clear and well defined. He adhered to the policy established by the OPA and he has stuck to his guns.

His personal preference would be to give everybody everything they asked for. But there isn't enough of everything to go around in unlimited quantities. . . . therefore the limited supply has to be rationed. If folks only realized that, the work of the ration boards would be alleviated considerably.

Mr. McPherson attended the Gilman country school from 1918 to 1924. He graduated from Princeton in 1928, and from the Harvard law school in 1931. He engaged in the practice of law here with his late father and since the death of the former President Judge of the Adams-Fulton courts he has maintained his own practice.

He once remarked: "If they ever decide to pay a salary for this job I'll resign. But I cannot conscientiously resign until they do. This is part of my contribution thus far to the war effort."

Members of the local board include Dr. H. C. Alleman, retired from the Seminary faculty staff after many years of service; S. L. Allison, of Fairfield and Robert Garrettson, of Flora Dale. Auxiliary members of the board include the Rev. A. R. Longacker and Paul Rohrbach, all of whom serve without pay.

Also in the local office and serving without remuneration are Paul Singmaster and William Van Cleave. These two men devote a number of hours each day assisting in the complex work of the board staff. Theirs, also, is a patriotic gesture.

The New Oxford board comprises P. F. Smith, of McSherrystown, Richard W. Livingston, New Oxford and Peter J. Griest, of York Springs R. 1. Auxiliary members include C. P. Keefer, New Oxford, Harry E. Serff, East Berlin, and George F. Hemler, McSherrystown.

The next time you feel like cracking down on the board remember this . . . these folks are serving their country . . . they are doing what they are told to do . . . if they don't do it that way, some one else will replace them and the work will proceed in the manner prescribed by Washington. And a passing thought . . . if you think it's a sacrifice to give up pleasure driving, use less sugar and coffee and share what there is of these and other items with our armed forces . . . just give one minute's thought to what our own boys are sacrificing in

Dear Town Council

Don't forget the mosquito nuisance project when you set up and adopt your budget! You know these pests are bound to be with us again come this summer. Oil may not be available through regular channels but perhaps an appeal from you men to garage proprietors may net a goodly portion.

News services carried several stories on the abandonment of passenger service between Gettysburg and Baltimore when the Western Maryland ran its last passenger train over the rails on December 31st.

One of the dispatches read:

"The train that President Roosevelt rode into Gettysburg in 1963 to give his historic battlefield address makes its last trip from Baltimore today, with a crowd of history lovers aboard. . . ."

A Detroit editor queried the source of the dispatch as follows:

"Re Gettysburg. Thought FDR had only three terms."

"It strikes me that there is a second home front in Gettysburg that deserves our consideration. Perhaps a little space in your news columns might help. Here 'tis.

"I'm not in business but I know that the war, priorities, ban on pleasure driving, depletion of our young manpower (more than 900), departure of some of our citizens to war defense work, etc., is working a serious hardship on our merchants. Many have been forced out of business. Others will follow if the war continues much longer, as it likely will.

"Perhaps, we who are to stay at home might give some thought to patronizing our home merchants wherever possible. With money plentiful let's think of the butcher and baker, and druggist; our restaurants and hotels; clothing and shoe stores; tailors and grocers; garages and filling stations; confectionery stores and many others. A dollar here and there, that formerly went out of town, may tide these fine merchants through the war era."

CONTRIBUTED

A new moving picture, "Tennessee Johnson," that had its premiere in New York this week may be of interest to a number of Gettysburgians who admire the accomplishments of the late Thaddeus Stevens, a resident of Gettysburg more than one hundred years ago.

Lionel Barrymore plays the role of Thaddeus Stevens and Van Heflin plays the role of Andrew Johnson, Lincoln's vice president who succeeded to the presidency after Lincoln's assassination.

The film covers the life of Johnson, taking, according to one critic—"some long steps from high point to high point, beginning with his young manhood and ending with his return to the Senate from Tennessee following expiration of a term as President. It shows his education by the girl who became his wife, his first understanding of the Constitution and his early championship of rights of the underprivileged, his stand on the Union side against his Southern associates, his part in the war, his association with Lincoln, his occupancy of the White House following Lincoln's death and, for the big scene of the picture, the impeachment proceedings which failed by one vote to oust him from the Presidency. It is a long story in fact and in the telling, but it is strong in interest and in its appeal to Americans.

Van Heflin's portrayal of Johnson is a compelling performance, as are those of Lionel Barrymore as Thaddeus Stevens, his political adversary, of Ruth Hussey as Mrs. Johnson and of many others in the large cast."

Letters To The Editor

Gentlemen:

I wish to express my appreciation for your kindness throughout my stay at Camp Forrest for your wonderful paper which brought Gettysburg really to me.

I left Gettysburg on the morning of July 15, 1942, for New Cumberland. Two days later I was on my way to Camp Forrest.

I was one of the oldest drafted men to leave Gettysburg. I was born July 10, 1897. Why I am writing you is mainly due to the fact young boys will be soon leaving for camp. I can show them where there is plenty of advancement in the Army.

I graduated on the 21st day of October from the Army school for bakers and cooks as first cook in the Army.

I graduated the 30th day of November in the course of instruction in Mess Management and also passed the requisite examination as mess sergeant.

I just wanted you to know the boys from your city are really doing their part to help win this war.

I am still a private, but I understand my rating will soon be here. However I will notify you as to my rating.

Thanking you again for your kindness.

I am
PVT. LOUIS W. WARNER,
Btry. A. 313th F. A. Bn.,
A. P. O. No. 80,
Camp Forrest, Tennessee

Dear Sir:

I want to thank you and the people who work for The Gettysburg Times for putting in the Christmas Greetings to my mother.

I received the notice your office sent out to the members of the armed forces and I knew it would be too late for me to return it.

I also want to thank you for sending me the special service men's edition of the paper which I understand is published once a week.

I received it about three or four weeks late but it is very good to receive news from home. In the last paper I received you had two stories about my buddies, James Gelsman and Russel Bumbaugh. Both of these men are swell fellows and I hope we all live through this war to come back home to Gettysburg again.

I want to thank you again for sending the papers to me and for putting the Christmas greetings in the paper.

Sincerely

John L. Plattenburg Jr.

File Detainer In Chambersburg

A detainer is being sent to Chambersburg to hold Lawrence Jackson, a New Jersey resident now employed at the Letterkenny depot, for local police authorities on a charge of larceny of a spotlight from a car parked at a Carlisle street service station on January 1. The information against Jackson was filed by Chief of Police Glenn Guise before Justice of the Peace John H. Baschore.

State motor police arrested Jackson in Chambersburg Saturday evening, recovered the spotlight and secured from the prisoner a confession to several Franklin county burglaries. He was linked to the Gettysburg theft by a license number which was traced from Gettysburg to New Jersey to Chambersburg.

AMUSEMENTS NOT BARRED IN DRIVING BAN

Some confusion and misunderstanding prevailing in rural areas and other communities relative to adherence to the new ruling barring pleasure driving was cleared up Friday by OPA officials.

While the ban on pleasure driving remains in effect it necessarily does not prevent anyone from attending amusements such as moving picture theatres, sports events and other attractions classified as amusements.

OPA officials have ruled that persons driving their cars on legitimate business, visiting doctors, visiting the sick or any other errand termed essential may attend the theatre or any other amusement provided it does not require additional driving of their cars to do so. There is no prohibition against attending amusements. The ruling is specific in that it prohibits driving automobiles for pleasure only. But pleasure may be combined with essential driving if it does not require added mileage to do so.

Littlestown Plans Preaching Mission

The annual preaching mission will be conducted by the churches of Littlestown from January 24 to January 29. There will be an exchange of pulpits for the morning services on January 24 but the name of the guest preacher will not be announced in advance. Beginning with the Sunday evening service, the services will be union services. The services will be conducted in a different church each night and a different minister will bring the message. The Sunday evening service will be held at 7 o'clock, but the week-day services will be at 7:30.

The following is the schedule: Sunday evening, St. Paul's Lutheran church, the Rev. Kenneth James, pastor of St. John's Lutheran church.

Monday evening, Methodist Episcopal church, the Rev. A. P. Prantz, supply pastor of St. James Reformed church.

Tuesday evening, Christ Reformed church, the Rev. D. S. Kammerer, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church.

Wednesday evening, Redeemer's Reformed church, the Rev. Elwood Bair, pastor of the Methodist church.

Ask Cooperation In Gas Rations

With the approach of expiration dates for many "B" and "C" gasoline ration books, the Adams county rationing board made this announcement Thursday:

"January 22 is the date for the renewal of many 'B' and 'C' gasoline ration books. It is possible that some motorists will not receive their book by that date. We are hoping to have them in the hands of the applicant by that time if possible. However, due to the pressure of work this month, such an end may not be possible.

"If motorists do not receive their ration by that date and have made the proper application for the same, they are urged not to go to their local board because on January 22 they will have 24 gallons of gasoline available from the 'A' book on Coupon No. 4. This should be sufficient for the average driver to last him from a week to a month.

"We are asking the public to cooperate so that we do not have an overflow at any of the local board offices."

Begins Studies At Amarillo Air Field

Wilmer K. Diehl, son of J. Roy Diehl, Biglerville, has begun an intensive course of study in aviation mechanics at the Headquarters Technical School, Amarillo Army Air Field, Texas, one of the newest schools in the Army Air Forces Technical Training Command.

He will spend several months at the mechanics' school, and upon graduation will be sent to one of Uncle Sam's air bases, there to do his part in keeping America's "Flying Fortresses" harassing the Axis. In addition to mechanical training, his course here will include Army discipline and courtesy, military drill and physical exercise to put him in the peak of condition.

Governor's Address

The following is the complete text of Governor Edward Martin's inaugural address:

It is with deep humility that I accept the office of Governor of Pennsylvania today. These are trying and difficult times. The normal and peaceful pursuits of our daily lives are shaken and perturbed, leaving us puzzled and bewildered, and the problems of administering our government have multiplied and become correspondingly complex. In one respect, however, we are about to take office, are fortunate. The administration of Governor James has been outstanding. It has turned a deficit into a surplus by the American principles of economy and common sense. On behalf of the people of this great commonwealth, I extend thanks and appreciation and hope that he and the members of his cabinet may enjoy health, peace and prosperity in the years to come.

"Battle of Ballots"

The ceremonies today are a magnificent tribute to the American way of living. In the midst of a total war, with our boys daily marching off to training camps and fighting on every continent of the globe, we took time out for a "Battle of Ballots"—to permit a free people to elect their representatives who are their public servants, and not their masters. During these critical times it is particularly urgent that those of us who remain on the home front should uphold the banner of democracy and exercise their right to vote. In this way alone can we keep alive, for those on the battle fronts, the most sacred right that a free citizenry possesses—the right to choose our public servants. The smoke of battle of the last election has cleared. Today, as the Governor of all the people of Pennsylvania, I ask for united support in order that, during our term of office, we may accomplish the maximum good for the greatest number of people.

America is in the second year of the greatest crisis in its history, and Pennsylvania is carrying her share of the war burden, just as she has in all past wars fought for the establishment and preservation of our country. Her soldier sons have died everywhere Americans have fought. Her sailor sons are buried under all the seven seas. And now, in our present conflict, one man in every ten wearing the American uniform is a Pennsylvanian. Our mines are producing coal to keep the steel furnaces ablaze and to keep our trains rolling. War materials for shipment to the war fronts. Our shipyards are turning out ships with a speed that is startling our enemies. And Pennsylvania, with her billion dollar investment in 175,000 farms is one of the most important food producers in the world. Our farmers are cooperating magnificently to help feed our Allies and to make our Army the best fed Army in the world.

Push War Effort

This war effort must go on, move forward and its tempo must be increased. To this, we today pledge ourselves and dedicate all our energies. Our land, sea and air forces must be greater in numbers and superior in training to those of our enemies. Right now, nothing matters but winning the war, because if we do not win it, nothing else will matter. We are fighting a ruthless enemy—an enemy who aims to destroy everything that we hold sacred. Yes—he aims to destroy civilization itself and engulf the world in slavery and darkness and to drive from the face of the earth freedom of speech, freedom of assembly and freedom to worship God. This monster must be destroyed and with him we must root out the poison of hatred, arrogance and Godlessness, which he has instilled into the hearts and minds of millions of men. With a united people working tirelessly, with strong hands and unflinching courage, God willing, we will achieve Victory, and our sons will not have died in vain.

While our greatest job is winning the war, there are state problems that must have immediate attention. Our men carrying the bayonets on the front line, guiding and fighting airplanes and battle tanks, manning our ships and supply lines, deserve every consideration. The democracy they are fighting to preserve must be kept clean and strong. The door of opportunity must be kept open for them, so that when they return they are not deprived of the American prerogative to compete fairly and strive honestly to succeed each according to his merits. It seems manifestly unfair to fill government positions by civil service now. We should wait until these men come home and have an opportunity to take their rightful places again in society. In the meantime, those in the service must know that the state is not unmindful of the loved ones they left behind and will look out for and guard them with tender and diligent care.

Heavy Burdens

The war will put unusually heavy burdens on some of the departments of our state government, and in the foreground of these is the Department of Education. Our schools are suffering from the terrific impact of the war. With the drafting of boys in the teen ages, our high schools will be seriously affected. Boys are restless and eager for the adventure of serving their country. Many teachers, both men and women, are leaving the profession. Curricula must be changed to meet war requirements. Our Department of Education must act with fearless strength to see that our educational institutions are preserved intact. Education is the bulwark of our republic, and next to the church it fashions our lives and strengthens our beliefs in democracy and its ideals. Let us, above all, teach in the one room school house, as well as in our greatest university, what American means; let us teach the homely philosophy of work that made America great. Let us search the records of our pioneers and apply their ideals of thrift, sacrifice and the love of God to our present day living, and through our schools, instill in the youth of Pennsylvania the real principles of Americanism. I propose this to be the guiding thought of every man and woman having control of the molding of the minds of our children.

Health Department

We must have a strong and efficient Department of Public Health. The commanding officer of an army watches, with scrupulous care, over the health of his soldiers, because he knows that disease can bring disasters greater than the ones suffered on the battlefield. It is equally as important to look out for the health of those on the home front. Due to the war, we have suffered many dislocations in our lives. Thousands of men and women, formerly employed in lighter work, are now employed in mines, mills and factories, producing war materials. In the shifting of populations to accelerate war work we are faced with inadequate living conditions. With the restricted use of gasoline and automobiles, our means of transportation—buses, street cars and trains are overcrowded. Add to this the rationing of food and other essential commodities, the anxiety about those in the service, as well as eventual casualty lists—all these are factors affecting the health of the community. The various department of state, therefore, must attain the highest efficiency in the strict inspection of food and sanitary conditions, and increase its activities in all the many branches of its service, in order to guard the health of our people and the safety of men and women in our mines, mills and factories. A casualty on the home front may be as costly as one on the battlefield.

It will be the constant effort of this administration, through the Department of Labor and Industry, to foster and encourage better relations between management and labor. In this country we recognize that the interests of the worker and the employer are basically the same. Both, working together, have helped to mold and create this mighty republic, a land of equal opportunity for all with the highest standards

College Will Hold First Mid-Year Commencement

Gettysburg college will hold the first mid-year commencement in its history Monday morning, January 25, when approximately 20 seniors will receive their degrees in Brua chapel at 11 o'clock.

This will be the first class to graduate under the new accelerated course instituted last summer by the college and permitting students to finish the regular four-year college program in three calendar years.

Members of the administration, faculty, and graduating class will form in regular academic procession before the exercises and walk to the chapel where parents and friends of the graduates, and members of the student body will be the audience.

There will be no valedictory address at this commencement and no honors will be announced until the regular spring ceremonies at which time the list will include those honor students of the mid-year graduation.

REV. DR. MANGES WILL ADDRESS COLLEGE GRADS

The Rev. Dr. Lewis C. Manges, an alumnus of Gettysburg college in the class of 1897 and since 1905 pastor of Memorial Lutheran church in Harrisburg, will be the speaker at the first mid-year commencement in Gettysburg college history next Monday morning in Brua chapel.

Doctor Manges, whose five sons and one daughter, also are listed among the alumni of the college, was given the degree of doctor of divinity from his alma mater in 1921. After graduating from college here he prepared for the ministry at the Gettysburg Lutheran Theological seminary, graduating with the class of 1900.

His first pastorate was at Hummelstown but he went to Memorial church in Harrisburg in 1905 and has served there since. He filled a 10-year term as a director of the seminary here and served in the offices of both president and secretary of the East Pennsylvania Synod and as a member of the Foreign Mission Board of the United Lutheran church.

The graduating address to the class of 12 seniors will be delivered after an academic procession on the campus which is set for 11 o'clock. Diplomas will be presented by Dr. W. A. Hanson, president of the college.

of living anywhere on this earth. American labor knows how cruelly workers have suffered at the hands of the tyrant abroad. Millions of workers the world over are today enslaved, driven like herds of cattle, toiling ceaselessly in dark despair and without any immediate hope for the future. The employer, too, cannot call anything his own—all he worked for, accumulated and saved is ruthlessly confiscated by the greedy and unprincipled oppressors. That such things may never come to pass in our beloved land, labor and capital are working together to forge the weapons for the destruction of our enemies. Let there be no slackening of these joint efforts. We stand ready, in conjunction with federal agencies, to adjust any grievances that may arise. But it is our profound conviction that no grievance of any kind must impede or delay the making or delivering of war materials to our armed forces and deprive the American soldier of the weapons with which to defend himself from attack by the enemy.

Must Help Farmer

We must help the Pennsylvania farmer to overcome his lack of manpower and his shortage of materials and equipment. It may be necessary for the Pennsylvania school boys and girls to sacrifice some of their time in the school room and help in the fields. Young men have always fought our wars. In the war between the states, 1,151,000, or 41 per cent of the men in the Union Army were under 18 years of age. If they could fight, certainly the boys under that age in this generation can help to produce food. Production and distribution are the basic problems of agriculture. Both of them are vitally related to the war effort. Farmers are willing to work and produce and we must give all the help we can to furnish the necessary manpower.

In all matters pertaining to the prosecution of the war we Pennsylvanians pledge our united and unreserved support to the President, the Commander-in-Chief of our armed forces. We pledge the fullest cooperation of every department and agency of this commonwealth to bring about an early, victorious and lasting peace. We will, however, jealously guard those functions and prerogatives which, under our Constitution, belong exclusively to the state. The American government was never intended to direct the lives and control the efforts and desires of the individual. While some form of regimentation to help win the war may be necessary, regimentation under the pretext of war is dangerous to our freedom and should not be permitted. Bureaucracy is running rampant and must be curbed. Governments are now in fields of service never contemplated by the founders. The great tax burden created by the essential war effort and by non-essential government work is sapping the resources of our people. It is destroying capital which represents the savings of the thrifty. When the war ends we must have capital for private enterprise. If our people do not have capital the government must step in and provide it, and that, when carried too far is state socialism, which is death to the American way of free enterprise. More than five million men and women are now employed by federal,

$43,737 BOND SALES IN FIRST WEEK OF MONTH

Almost one-third of Adams county's January quota for the sale of war bonds was subscribed in the first of this month, Edmund W. Thomas, chairman of the county committee, announced Wednesday.

The Federal Reserve district reported to Mr. Thomas that war bond sales in Adams county during the first week in January totaled $43,737. This is almost one-third of the month's quota of $144,000.

For the first week's sales Biglerville tops all other communities with $17,531. This is the largest weekly sales from one community in the county in many months.

Gettysburg was second with $6,375. Abbottstown ranked third with $5,800 and Arendtsville was a close fourth with $5,587. Other community sales included:

Bendersville	$3,975
Cashtown	18
East Berlin	2,887
Fairfield	431
Gardners	225
Littlestown	5,412
McSherrytown	18
New Oxford	806
York Springs	375
Unallocated	41

If county sales continue to maintain this pace during the balance of the month the $144,000 quota will be exceeded by a wide margin, Mr. Thomas said.

state and local governments, and these swollen payrolls add dangerous burdens to an already overtaxed people. Let us end unnecessary government bonodogling, snooping, overlapping and duplication. We must never forget that free enterprise with its free men and women gave us the American farmer, the American industrialist, the American worker and the mighty American industries that are now arming and feeding the United Nations. This government was created to serve a free people; to establish common defense; promote education; uphold tolerance; stamp out abuses of power; combat poverty and to maintain equality of opportunity for all. The greatness of the United States always has been and should remain in the strength of its citizenship.

Looks for Peace

While we are now thinking and acting in terms of war we cannot help but indulge in a prayerful hope that during our stewardship in office a happy peace will crown our efforts. And peace will bring a multitude of problems in its wake, equally as important as those confronting us today.

First to receive our attention and consideration will be the soldier returning to his home. Under no circumstances must we permit the millions of soldiers to become another lost generation, perplexed and unable to find themselves. Wherever possible, a soldier must be returned to the job that he left, if he desires to have it. New and greater opportunities for employment will have to be provided. We must now lay down a long range program that will include highway planning, flood control, reforestation, purification of streams and other needed public works for the reemployment of men and women, and private industry. In addition, many thousands of young men who had left the school room will want to take up their education where they left off, and the government should do all in its power to make this possible.

We propose that a grateful government shall dedicate itself to the task of rebuilding the lives of our soldiers and give them help and encouragement. We shall also have the problem of the maimed and the wounded, and those who have been widowed and orphaned by the war. While the primary responsibility for these rests upon the Federal Government, Pennsylvania will do its share to heal their wounds and bring cheer and comfort into the bereaved homes. We must, in our own hearts, develop intolerance. Protestants and Catholics, Jews and Gentiles, colored and white, first generation American and Mayflower descendants. We are all Americans. There can be no divided allegiance. He who is not with us is against us. There is no middle way. There is no place for the merchant of hate in America. "Fox holes" in desert and jungle and rafts adrift in open seas make for deep religious convictions. Sacrifice and sweat on the home front should soften men's hearts. Peace and religion are essential to American life. They are our assurance for the future.

Peace With Liberty

Peace with liberty was the hope, the ambition and the prayer of those who founded this republic. Its achievement is still the great issue and the object for which the present conflict is being waged. The conditions under which it can be achieved are no different today than they were in the bitter days of Valley Forge. These conditions were set forth simply and truthfully by the Apostle Paul when he said "Where the spirit of the Lord is there is liberty."

With the help of Almighty God, we pledge our resources, our hearts, our minds, the work of our hands, to achieve a quick and victorious end to this life and death struggle to maintain our freedom. Humbly asking divine guidance, I assume the responsibilities of this high office.
